

U. S. CRUISER AND MARINES REACH HAITI AS UNREST GROWS IN NEGRO REPUBLIC; FEW CLASHES OCCUR

Two Pilots Die as Refueling Plane Crashes

ENDURANCE PLANE ALSO CRACKS UP AT FLORIDA PORT

"Sealdsweet" Effort To Break Record Ends in Tragedy as Pilots Are Burned in Crash.

DISASTER COMES AFTER 23 HOURS

Loss of Mother Ship Causes Contest Craft To Fall as Gasoline Supply Runs Out.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 8.—(P)—Two pilots of the refueling ship to the Sealdsweet of Florida, endurance plane, were killed here this morning as their plane crashed in a take-off with 60 gallons of fuel for the other plane which was forced down about 15 minutes later, causing minor injuries to both occupants.

E. A. Dempsey and Stanley Smith, of St. Louis, were burned to death in the refueling plane which caught fire as it crashed.

R. W. Schrock, of St. Louis, and Leonard Carothers, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, suffered minor injuries as they attempted a forced landing with the endurance plane the Sealdsweet of Florida near Kissimmee, Fla., in a fog.

Airport authorities were unable to explain the cause of the refueling ship's crash.

The Sealdsweet of Florida was practically out of gas when the refueling tank took off to replenish it and the pilots after seeing the crash sought unsuccessfully to bring their craft to earth, but crashed into a woods. The Sealdsweet took fire, but Carothers and Schrock were able to crawl to safety.

The Sealdsweet took off yesterday at 10:53:15 a. m. for the tenth time to seek a new refueling outlet mark. Numerous minor difficulties had caused the pilots to land on previous attempts, but after more than 23 hours in the air, the ship seemed to be flying perfectly.

Both planes were flying in a heavy fog and both were burned.

The Sealdsweet, up since yesterday morning, made its last take-off over the water at 7 o'clock, with gasoline in its tanks to last three hours, and at 9:30 Dempsey and Smith took off with 60 gallons of fuel in the refueling plane to find it and replenish its tanks.

Bursts in Flames.

The heavily loaded ship roared down the runway and turned over on its left wing just as it skirted the edge of the flying field on its attempt to gain altitude. It burst into flames immediately and its two pilots were trapped in the cabin. They were killed instantly.

Within 15 minutes the Sealdsweet, groping in the fog with its fuel running low, "pancaked" into a pine tree in a dense wood seven miles out of Kissimmee and slid to the ground. Its pilots squirmed out of the cabin barely in time to escape the flames that consumed the ship. Carothers suffered a crushed hand in the landing and Schrock received slight cuts and bruises. The wreckage of the States line, on route from New York to Southampton, England.

Two successful calls were made. One conversation occupied 14 minutes and the second six. The voices of the two men were recognizable and each word came through distinctly.

Written under his own telephone in the naval committee rooms at the House Office building. Ten persons heard the conversation through connected telephones. Cunningham was in his cabin aboard the liner, which sailed yesterday from New York.

The conversation was transmitted through a hook-up with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's wireless station in northern New Jersey, through which trans-Atlantic telephone service is conducted.

Tenth St. Theater Is Badly Damaged By Bomb Explosion

FUZZY WOODRUFF PAID LAST TRIBUTE

Military Funeral for Beloved Newspaperman as Friends Mourn His Passing.

A bereaved family wept. Newspapermen, tear-eyed, stood with heads bowed and bowed. Uniformed Legionnaires were at attention. From a bugle came loud and clear and true the sad notes of taps. To Fuzzy Woodruff in life it had been a favorite lullaby. In death, Sunday afternoon, it was his requiem.

As the last shrill note went out over the beautiful wind-swept expanse of Crest Lawn cemetery the body of Fuzzy, prince of newspapermen, was lowered to its final resting place. The man who had known and had loved the beauties of life had all that is beautiful in death.

As was Fuzzy, so was his funeral, dignified and impressive, yet with the note of simplicity predominant.

To St. Luke's Episcopal church there came a funeral party drawn from every walk of life. Lorenzo Ferguson Woodruff, dean of the south newspaper offices, had his friends everywhere. Merchants, bankers, city, county and state officials, businessmen and workmen, mothers and grandmothers. Co-workers from the Journal. And the so-called "opposition" from The Constitution and the Georgian. They were all his friends. And they had come to pay honor to him at his funeral.

Gave Life for His Country.

The American Legion was there. For Fuzzy gave his life for his country. Just as surely as if he had been shot down on the battlefields of France. His death Saturday was due to a heart ailment resulting from nearly 12 years ago.

Fuzzy went to his grave clad in a bloodstained uniform he brought back from France. Over there on the field of battle he ran across a dying French soldier. Fuzzy immediately took him in his arms and consoled him in his last moments, the blood of the dying man trickling on his uniform. Fuzzy never had the uniform cleaned. He brought it home and stored it away in a trunk. From time to time he would get it out and look at it, recalling the tragic memories. It was not until he was again until he was dressed in it for burial.

Fuzzy's casket was flag-draped. Lying atop was his sword, the emblem of an officer.

The church was filled with flowers and friends when the body was borne tenderly down the aisle by Fuzzy's pallbearers, who included his fastest friends, drawn from the newspaper offices in which he had worked and from the legion of friends he had made "outside" during his many years of newswriting here.

Banked on both sides of the altar were the flowermen. Profusions of roses and lilies and wreaths of all kinds. From his friends here and his native Montgomery, and from St. Louis and Fuzzy had worked and where he was loved just as he was in Atlanta.

Brief, Impressive Ritual.

The Rev. N. R. High Moor read the brief and impressive funeral rites of the Episcopal church as Fuzzy's body lay guarded by his Legion brethren and mourned on one side by the family and on the other by the newspapermen who loved him as a brother.

After the service the brother newspapermen led the procession to the hearse as still more tenderly Fuzzy's fast friends bore his body. St. Luke's had been filled and as the funeral was being prepared for its way to Crest Lawn the crowd, in cars and on foot, was so dense that traffic in Peachtree street was halted for a quarter of an hour.

The ceremony at the grave was brief. The rector read a prayer. Fuzzy's Legion brethren fired a salute, and the bugler sounded his retirement.

So passed a genius.

CALIFORNIA RAIN BRINGS END TO LONG DROUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—(P)—Northern California's long drought seemed broken today when light rains were reported falling in many sections. Rains fell gently as far south as the San Francisco-Reno airway. A trace fell in San Francisco and a sprinkle accompanied by a southwest gale was reported on Mount Tamalpais, north of San Francisco, across the Golden Gate.

BELIEVED SLAIN, 'VICTIM' RETURNS TO CLEAR ACCUSED

Mountain Youth Identifies Sweetheart and Many Citizens; Left To Prevent Marriage.

BATESVILLE, Ark., Dec. 8.—(United News.)—Out of a line of 12 Batesville girls, a 20-year-old Arkansas farm boy, who claims he is Connie Franklin, today unhesitatingly picked Miss Tillie Rummier, who previously had sworn to state authorities she saw Franklin burned to death by a mob which then allegedly assaulted her.

Five men are in jail facing charges of murder growing out of Franklin's alleged mutilation and burning at the stake.

The Rummier girl stood near the center of the line, a hat pulled down over her face and a coat collar up over her chin, head bowed. She and Franklin were engaged to be married. She refused to identify the youth, saying only, "Well, if it's him, he's fleshed up."

The alleged Franklin hurried across the room, grabbed Tillie Rummier by the hand, saying, "Hello, Tillie." Tillie jumped backward, startled.

When she spoke of his fleshing up, the youth said quickly, "Sure, I've fleshed up, Tillie. I've gained 10 pounds. I been up to Boston mountain."

The boy, whose alleged death brought a governor's order for investigation of alleged peonage in this Arkansas farm district, then mentioned 100 incidents supposedly in which he received money from a group of concerned. The girl said she remembered every case.

Both Sheriff Johnson and Prosecutor Williams indicated they were reasonably sure the youth who confronted Tillie Rummier today was the Connie Franklin supposedly murdered.

The boy explained his movements during the time of the alleged murder to officials.

"I went down near Humphrey and I was engaged to be married, and I had a quarrel. I decided I didn't want to marry her and so just slipped out and left the country."

He said he and Humphrey worked for Carl Bryant on a farm. I hadn't heard anything about five men being charged with my murder until L. M. Marks came down there and told me about it yesterday.

Defense attorneys said they believed the charges resulted from a clan war group to which the defendants belonged and another group.

"As I see it, the whole thing was a frame-up against me by my enemies in the community," Judge Coleman, of defense counsel, said. "There had been a great deal of ill feeling and clan war between the group to which the defendants belonged and another group."

U. S. Takes Initial Step In Adhering To World Court

'30 RHODES AWARD WON BY ATLANTAN

George S. Craft, Junior at Emory University, Given Coveted Scholarship; 31 Others Awarded.

A Rhodes scholarship, one of the world's most coveted awards, has been given to George S. Craft, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Craft, 64 Brighton road, Mr. Craft is chief engineer for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Simultaneously with this formally, which will put the administration on record, Secretary of State Stimson has initiated a campaign for the final and most difficult step, adherence by the senate to the revised protocol drafted by Elihu Root, former secretary of state.

The state department made public tonight a lengthy and elaborate argument for entry into the court, which President Harding requested as long ago as February 17, 1925, in the form of a letter from Stimson to President Hoover. It also made public President Hoover's reply, in which he instructed Stimson to authorize signature at Bern tomorrow because members of the court, almost unanimously, have given their approval to the Root protocol, which revised the court statutes as to advisory opinions in order that the United States might enter.

Stimson declared the Root revision entirely protects the United States and meets the fifth senate reservation as to advisory opinions, and also sought to assuage fears of anti-League of Nations forces who have claimed entry into the world court really means entry into the league "through the back door."

Although the final movement which established the court was initiated by the League of Nations, the court took its existence and became effective not by the action of the league, but under a statute and protocol separately signed by over 50 states, not all of whom are league members," Stimson wrote to Hoover.

"It thus owes its existence to the independent authority of those signatory states."

After the question then is tomorrow at Bern the question then is ready at any time for submission to the senate for final approval, it was learned by the United News. President Hoover said in his annual message he expected to submit the revised protocol soon for senate action. There it will meet a fight led by Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, and Senator John C. Calhoun, California, ranking member of that committee, a fight which is expected to be successful.

The senate accepted the world court protocol nearly four years ago, on January 27, 1926, with five reservations. World court members accepted all but the fifth, which would have prevented the court from rendering advisory opinions involving the United States without the consent of the United States. Elihu Root went abroad last spring and joined a committee of jurists who

EUROPEAN SHORES LASHED BY MIGHT OF ANGRY WINDS

Gale of Hurricane Force Kicks Up Mountainous Waves and Great Ships Are Helpless.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(P)—The terrific gale which has gripped the English coasts for the past several days, causing a loss of life and damage to shipping that cannot yet be estimated, subsided somewhat tonight.

The air ministry, however, predicted that further violent storms were en route. The continental shores had also felt the force of the gales, which several times reached hurricane force, from southern Portugal to northern Denmark.

The high wind and mountainous seas prevented relief ships in several instances from reaching other vessels which had reported themselves in great distress hours before. The total of larger vessels which suffered from the storm exceeded 50.

Comparatively little fresh damage was done today. Most of the ships out at sea when the gales began last Thursday night had either found their way to port or had been wrecked. Floods continued on land. The fate of several vessels at sea was not definitely known tonight and it was impossible to estimate the loss of life, but it was known to run into scores.

The finest of ocean liners had found themselves almost helpless from the force of the gale. The American liner President Roosevelt, from New York, reached Plymouth today after battling hurricane force winds. Her officers said the velocity of the wind exceeded 100 miles an hour at times and had done some deck damage. George St.

NATIVES POSSESS SUPPLY OF GUNS OF RECENT MAKE

Documents Which May Throw Light on Source of Weapons Seized With Arms Cache.

MEMBER OF OLD FAMILY JAILED

Marines Kill Sixteen as Mob Attacks Station at Aux Cayes; More Troops Land Today.

BY SAM LOVE, United News Staff Correspondent.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 8. (United News.)—The United States cruiser Galveston reached strike-torn Haiti today from Guantanamo, Cuba, and landed 400 marines at Jacmel, a trouble center on the southern coast.

The marine reinforcements were the first of several hundred ordered by President Hoover after discontent among the 2,000,000 negro population of Haiti flared into violence.

Port Au Prince officials prepared to receive the main body of reinforcements—400 officers and men due to arrive from Hampton Roads, Va., on the airplane carrier Wright, sometime tomorrow.

Disturbance at Jacmel.

Meantime strictest martial law was kept clamped upon Haiti by Brigadier General John H. Russell, American general commissioner, who practically supervises the whole country under the Haiti-United States treaty of 1915.

Jacmel, where the first marine reinforcement landed, produced a serious situation Saturday when several strike leaders menaced dock workers with new pistols of German make. The leaders were disarmed, but other pistols were found, together with documents that might supply the marine officers with information as to the source of the weapons.

Officials believed the reinforcements, expected tomorrow, which would bring the marine detachment in Haiti to more than 1,100 men, would be sufficient to cope with the situation and restore order.

Marines Shoot Straight.

The people had had a demonstration at Aux Cayes, across the peninsula to the south, that the marines could shoot straight. A handful of some 20 troops, menaced by a mob of 1,500 natives stoning them from sugar cane fields on all sides, fired two warning volleys into the air and then shot at the assailants.

The official report said five natives were killed and 20 wounded, but unofficial reports received here were to the effect the death toll might be 16. The higher figure was reported by natives who took their wounded friends into Aux Cayes yesterday and today for treatment.

According to officers, the marines stopped firing as soon as the mob stopped stoning them. This was proven, they said, by the fact that the ammunition belt of the lone machine gun was not fully used up.

Haitians here, asked why the mob continued to advance on the armed marines, said the leaders probably misinterpreted the two warning volleys fired into the air as a sign the Americans could not shoot accurately.

Some natives here were reported spreading propaganda to the effect

SHIP-TO-SHORE 'PHONE SERVICE OPENED SUNDAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—Commercial wireless telephone service between ships on the high seas and land was inaugurated today when Chairman Britten, of the house naval committee, held a conversation with Commodore H. A. Cunningham aboard the Leviathan, flagship of the United States lines, on route from New York to Southampton, England.

Two successful calls were made. One conversation occupied 14 minutes and the second six. The voices of the two men were recognizable and each word came through distinctly.

Written under his own telephone in the naval committee rooms at the House Office building. Ten persons heard the conversation through connected telephones. Cunningham was in his cabin aboard the liner, which sailed yesterday from New York.

The conversation was transmitted through a hook-up with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's wireless station in northern New Jersey, through which trans-Atlantic telephone service is conducted.

10 Homes Face Bleak Xmas Unless Atlantans Respond

FEEBLE MOTHER AND FOUR TOTS 'OPPORTUNITY NO. 2'

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.

"Merry Christmas"—how hollow and chill it will sound to you over your banquet and candle-brightened face peer at ten forsaken households, huddled drearily in cheerless, frozen rooms.

The ten neediest families in Atlanta want you to do your Christmas shopping early, and hurry home to your happy family, freighted with tinsel and holiday packages. And as you feel the just pride of an early shopper, and smile into the face of your noisy little tots rushing to relieve you of your load, these stricken want you to pause a moment and think of them.

Ten squalid homes, where famine is the unbidden guest at every meal, and sickness struts gleefully among thin, emaciated mothers and children who crowd together to warm their emaciated bodies lashed blue by the unfeeling chill of winter—ten homes aren't going to have a merry Christmas. Helpless little children, their young bodies are becoming feeble and they will not be able to withstand the sickness that is waiting to seize them much longer.

Citizens of Atlanta, are you going to see Christmas dawn in joyless homes, where smiles never brighten sunken cheeks of children, where haggard mothers must conceal their own suffering as they daily watch a hectic flush grow on pale cheeks of one baby, or irresistible weakness daily tighten its grip on another?

INNOCENT CHILDREN BEGGING FOR RELIEF.

They are innocent children

$5,000 CLOTHING LOOT RECOVERED

Three Women, Alleged Confessed 'Shoplifters,' Are Jailed in Connection With Store Robberies.

Apprehension of three women, alleged confessed "shoplifters," and the recovery of stolen merchandise valued at approximately $5,000 was announced Sunday by Detectives Sterling H. Gresham and A. D. Poole, operatives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association.

The arrested were Mrs. M. V. Garrison, 45, of 964 Parkway drive; Addis Penton, 23, of a Woodward avenue address; and Mrs. E. L. Reeves, 23, of a local hotel, who was being held at police headquarters late Sunday night in default of $300 bail.

The loot, which included expensive fur coats, jewelry and various kinds of wearing apparel, was found in a downtown hotel and at the home of Mrs. Garrison, the officers said. It had been taken, they said, over a period of several weeks from Atlanta department stores.

The early arrest of several "fences" who have been receiving stolen goods from the trio also was predicted by Gresham and Poole.

CHINESE PIRATES ATTACK STEAMER

British Cruisers Rescue Vessel But 60 Passengers Jump and Drown and 12 Are Slain.

HONG KONG, Dec. 8.—(P)—About sixty native passengers leaped overboard and were drowned and 12 persons were killed in a bloody conflict between a swarm of Chinese pirates and the crew of the British steamer Haiching today. Three American women were aboard the vessel. Their names had not been learned tonight. They were not injured.

The steamer reached here tonight with its superstructure partly burned away and one officer dead and another wounded. Thirty-eight wounded buccaners were sent to the hospital, where the condition of most of them was said to be serious. Others were brought ashore securely bound and thrown into jail. The ship was under escort by the British destroyers Sirdar and Sterling, which had gone to its aid.

The Haiching left Swatow for this city yesterday afternoon with 300 passengers, including an Englishman and the three American women. Early this morning 20 or 30 of the pirates who had shipped as passengers sprang upon the decks with blood-curdling yells and attempted to seize the ship. They stormed the bridge, firing revolvers indiscriminately.

The bridge, however, was protected by barred wire and the officers and Indian guards opened fire on the outlaws. A rapid exchange of shots forced the pirates to retire, although they had killed Third Officer Woodward.

After a brief lull in the combat the pirates again charged the bridge, but the accurate fire of the officers and guards picked off the leaders, and when they again withdrew they left dead and wounded lying about the deck. No other frontal attack was made, but the pirates took up protected positions from which they did much sniping. An Indian guard was killed, another wounded, and Chief Officer Berry received a wound.

Panic-stricken Chinese passengers swarmed from below as the smoke poured, and many of them leaped overboard, while others of the passengers attempted to launch lifeboats. In their haste three of the boats, crowded by the frightened people who jumped into them, overturned and many were drowned.

The superstructure was burning freely when the Sterling came alongside. Its men quickly captured the remaining pirates and extinguished the flames. The Sirdar arrived soon after. The uninjured passengers were transferred to the warships, which then proceeded slowly to this city with the crippled ship.

The Weather

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(P)—Forecast:

Georgia—Fair Monday, Tuesday increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain; not much change in temperature.

Virginia—Partly cloudy, slightly warmer Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness, and warmer, followed by rain in afternoon or at night.

North Carolina—Partly cloudy, slightly colder on the coast Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness and warmer; probably followed by rain in the interior.

South Carolina—Fair Monday, Tuesday increasing cloudiness, probably followed by rain; not much change in temperature.

Tennessee—Partly cloudy Monday; Tuesday partly cloudy followed by rain in northwest portion.

Kentucky and Tennessee—Cloudy Monday; Tuesday rain and warmer.

West Virginia—Increasing cloudiness Monday; Tuesday snow or rain; not much change in temperature.

Louisiana—Partly cloudy, warmer in northwestern portion Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness.

Mississippi—Partly cloudy, warmer in northwestern portion Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness.

Alabama and extreme northwest Florida—Partly cloudy Monday; Tuesday increasing cloudiness.

Arkansas—Increasing cloudiness, warmer Monday; Tuesday unsettled.

Oklahoma—Cloudy, warmer Monday; Tuesday unsettled.

Texas—Partly cloudy Monday and Tuesday.

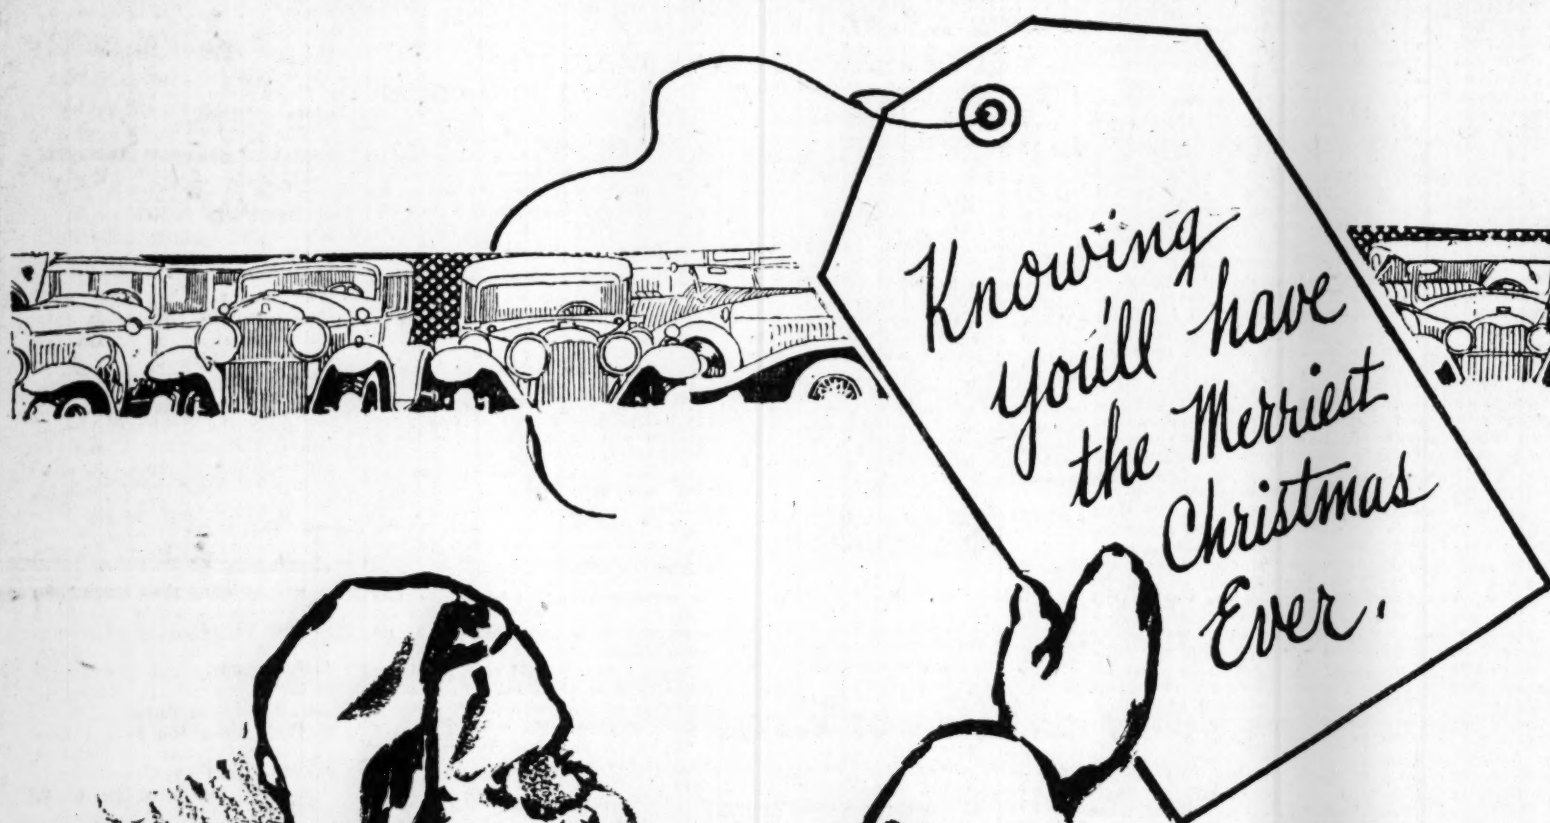

Any Person Can Have Santa Tag A Good Automobile This Xmas

Ford DEALERS

Combine in Presenting Atlanta's Greatest

USED CAR SALE

YOUR opportunity to own an automobile is presented with this price-cutting event that literally knocks the bottom out of any sale ever before conducted. The sacrifices of the dealers cooperating to make this great event possible for the man who wants an automobile are overwhelming—and you are the one to profit. Every car in the entire group is priced much less than its actual worth. Every car has been re-conditioned and serviced to assure “top-notch performance”.

This is your “red letter” day, Mr. Man, who wants an automobile. There has never been a bigger “melon-cutting” in the used car market. And in addition to the greatest automobile values in history—you are provided with astoundingly liberal terms—terms that anyone can afford.

Mr. Man, who doesn't own an automobile, or has one to trade, you had better take advantage of this event if you ever intend getting a good car at a low price. The reputation of the dealers whose names appear on this page is your guarantee of truth in all that they tell you.

Look at these Values and Decide Now to Enjoy Christmas Pleasures of an Automobile Owner

A Very Modest Down Payment

Will Secure Delivery of Any of These Cars

Guaranteed 2—Ford Model “A” Tudor Demonstrators offered at a big saving.
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Fordor Sedan Demonstrator offered at a big saving.
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Roadsters—Pick-up bodies, Each ..... $300.00
1928 Chevrolet Coach, new tires. $300.00
2—1926 Dodge Coupes ..... $225.00
1926 Studebaker Standard Six Sedan ..... $225.00
1926 Dodge Sedan ..... $235.00
1928 Chevrolet Coupe ..... $325.00
1928 Chevrolet Panel Truck ..... $200.00
1—Ford Model “T” 1-Ton Truck with Rucksteel axle and Olsen extension, 12-ft. stake body. Ideal for a moving van ..... $175.00

Can Be Seen at

Robert Ingram, Inc.
118 West Court Square, Decatur.
DE. 0962.

Guaranteed Model “A” Fordor Sedan ..... $500.00
1927 Ford Coupe (wire wheels) ..... $275.00
1927 Ford Tudor Sedan (wire wheels) ..... $240.00
1928 Chevrolet Coach ..... $350.00
1928 Chevrolet Coupe ..... $350.00
1927 Chevrolet Coach ..... $275.00
1926 Chrysler Coupe ..... $225.00
1926 Buick Sedan ..... $425.00
Lincoln Phaeton. Make us an offer.
1926 Model “T” Ford Coupe ..... $175.00
You will have to see this car to appreciate it.

Clyde Langford Motor Co.
USED CAR DEPARTMENT

160 Edgewood Ave. WA. 5147

Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Tudor Sedan, excellent condition. $350.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Tudor Sedan. This car shows no use at all ..... $400.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Fordor Sedan, practically new ..... $550.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Business Coupe, a real buy ..... $250.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Standard Coupe ..... $375.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Roadster ..... $325.00
1927 Ford Model “T” Tudor Sedan ..... $175.00
1927 Ford Model “T” Coupe (wire wheels) ..... $200.00
1928 Chevrolet Coupe ..... $300.00
1928 Buick Standard Coach ..... $475.00

Can Be Seen at

C. E. Freeman
USED CAR DEPARTMENT
236 Peachtree Street. JA. 0390

Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Roadster ..... $365.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Tudor Sedan ..... $395.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Fordor Sedan, like new car ..... $565.00
1926 Chevrolet Coupe ..... $95.00
1926 Ford Coupe ..... $115.00
1926 Ford Touring, a good clean job ..... $135.00
1926 Studebaker Standard 4-door Sedan ..... $195.00
1926 Ford Coupe ..... $185.00
1926 Ford Roadster ..... $145.00
1928 Essex 4-door Sedan ..... $275.00

Can be seen at

Ernest G. Beaudry
169 Marietta St. JA. 0446

Guaranteed 1928 Ford Model “A” Standard Coupe. Good paint and tires, mechanically jam-up. This car has been cut to ..... $400.00
Guaranteed 1928 Ford Model “A” Sport Coupe. This car has been used by our sales manager and has had the best of care, cut from $450.00 to ..... $425.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Phaeton. Really a new car at a used car price. It has been used slightly as a demonstrator ..... $400.00
1929 Nash Advanced Six Sedan. Six wire wheels, electric clock, in-jour centralized chassis lubrication. Driven less than 5,000 miles on the paved streets of Atlanta. Original cost $1,800.00. Priced during this sale at ..... $1,425.00
1929 Nash Special Six Cabriolet. Driven less than 500 miles. Six wire wheels. This car never sold. Original price $1,650.00. During sale ..... $1,275.00
1929 LaSalle Sedan. New tires, good paint. A three thousand dollar car for ..... $1,750.00
We have four 1929 Essex 2-Door Sedans. Every one of them a pick-up for ..... $475.00
1928 Ford Model “T” Coupe. A good clean job, new paint, battery, and tires are good ..... $150.00
1928 Chevrolet Coupe. Excellent mechanical condition. Looks good ..... $375.00
61 Cadillac Phaeton. Looks and runs good. Westinghouse shock absorbers. The biggest bargain at ..... $225.00

Can Be Seen at

R. H. Martin, Inc.
USED CAR DEPARTMENT
313 Walker Street, S. W. MA. 0535

Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Tudor Sedan, a very late model ..... $445.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Fordor Sedan ..... $495.00
Guaranteed Ford Model “A” Business Coupe, excellent condition ..... $395.00
1928 Chevrolet Cabriolet, exceptionally clean ..... $395.00
1928 Chevrolet Coach, above the average ..... $315.00
1928 Chrysler Sport Coupe—a good one ..... $395.00
1928 Chrysler Sport Roadster—a real buy for ..... $365.00
1927 Nash Standard “6” Coach, A-1 condition ..... $245.00
1928 Essex 4-Door Sedan. This is a good, clean job ..... $245.00
1927 Dodge Coupe; runs like a new car ..... $185.00

These Cars Can Be Seen at

Grant-Harris-Ripley Co.
830 W. Peachtree St., N. W. HE. 2955

THE CONSTITUTION
CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager
Published at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

THE CONSTITUTION'S STANDARD NEWS SERVICE
ESTABLISHED 1895

Telephone WAL. 0545.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
Daily and 1 Mo. 2 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
Daily ..... 20c 35c 50c 1.00 1.50 2.00
Single Copies—Daily, 5c; Sunday, 10c.
Sunday ..... 10c 15c 20c 35c 50c 75c
By mail and outside of Georgia
Daily (without Sunday) 1 year ..... $3.00

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 9, 1929.

J. B. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, sole advertising manager for all territory outside of Atlanta.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had, Hasting's News Stand, Broadway and Forty-third street (Times building corner), Schulte News Agency, at Bryant Park and Grand Central Depot.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents. Receipts given for subscription payments not authorized; also not responsible for subscription payments until received at office of publication.

Member of The Associated Press.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to use for publication all news dispatches credited to it or otherwise credited to this paper and also the local news published herein.

be proud of the positions attained in the national legislature-positions which insure that should a democratic majority appear in the next congress the state's representatives will figure among the most commanding in the body.

THE NEW WAR MINISTER.

An anticipated act has been done by President Hoover in his stepping-up of Patrick Jay Hurley, assistant secretary of war, to be full secretary in succession to the late Secretary Good. Secretary Hurley is a native and citizen of Oklahoma, a lawyer, a war service soldier, and a business man of high training and qualifications. Thus the war department at length gets a chief who is not "a chocolate soldier" in that he is not an untrained civilian.

Oklahoma, by this appointment, gets a seat in a president's cabinet and the south a representative there for the only time since H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, served as postmaster-general. It is also a recompense to Oklahoma for having given its electoral vote to Hoover. Perhaps it also is intended to have influence in that state in favor of the re-election next year of Senator Pine, republican.

Aside, however, from any political implications of the appointment, it is a very fit one and brings into the intimate service of the executive a man of esteemed character, indubitable efficiency and impeccable patriotism. Secretary Hurley is a man with reasoned ideas, with sincere convictions and with the frank courage to stand up for them. The fact that he is a Catholic in religion may be commented upon in quarters, but is subject to no legitimate criticism. His Catholicism did not impel him to support Governor Smith, a co-religionist, for the presidency, and it very properly had no weight to cause hesitancy by President Hoover to make him a member of his cabinet. What the president wants and the country wants from a cabinet minister is honest and faithful efficiency and that both will get in full measure from the new war chief.

On the premier and powerful ways and means committee, which originates revenue measures, Congressman Crisp is logically retained and takes an advanced position on the minority side. He is a recognized authority upon national tax measures and because of his first rank as a parliamentarian and debater is trusted to carry the democratic arguments upon the floor with all confidence.

Veteran Congressman Tom Bell keeps the minority leadership on the committee on postoffices and post roads, a position of power in framing the important legislation dealing with our national system of mail communications, and parcel post, and postal savings. His influence upon those functions is that of an expert whose opinions are considered with high respect.

Judge Wright, of the fourth district, is promoted from the committee on military affairs to the more potential major committee on appropriations. A place on that committee is generally coveted by congressmen and it is an honor to Georgia to have Judge Wright assigned to the place last occupied for the state by the late Gordon Lee.

It was quite in the order of things, of course, that Congressman Carl Vinson should remain as one of the expert and powerful factors on the important committee on naval affairs. Entering congress as a veritable middle Georgia landlubber, Representative Vinson has become a past master in naval affairs and obtained the fullest respect of the navy department and all the expert seadogs of the nation.

Congressman Edwards, serving now a second series of terms in the house, goes up to the important committee on rivers and harbors, which add greatly to his opportunities to profitably serve our sea and river ports. That he will neglect no chance to improve those interests goes near com.

Congressman Larsen remains upon the salient committee on agriculture, while Representatives Lankford, Rutherford and Cox retain their places upon their favorite committees: Judge Tarver, of the seventh, is given a place on the District of Columbia committee which deals with legislation for the national capital. Judge Brand continues in his influential position on the banking and currency committee.

Our new representative from this fifth district, Robert Ramspeck, is satisfactorily placed on the committees on civil service, claims and labor. While those are not major committees, they deal with subjects of importance to large contingents of the people. On them he will find excellent chances to demonstrate his legislative and administrative talents.

Taken as a whole, the people of Georgia have abundant reasons to be proud of the positions attained in the national legislature-positions which insure that should a democratic majority appear in the next congress the state's representatives will figure among the most commanding in the body.

A cheerful loser is one who went out to win a turkey at a raffle and brought home the bacon.

The smaller bill purse is featured as a desirable Christmas gift. But they are not one-tenth small enough.

"Less tubes" is about as popular as "F. O. B. Detroit."

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Georges Clemenceau.

"I want to be carried out in the silence of dawn and taken to my Vendean forest; and there next to the coffin of my father, I want mine to be placed standing up, like this . . . Even in death, I want to stand up." If the style is the man, that phrase is Georges Clemenceau. He wrote it last summer, after the first heart attack. Clemenceau is gone today. History will recognize him in his, perhaps, the greatest figure that the third republic has produced so far. Nothing must be said now of his errors, of his ferocious revenge mentality, of the victimization of Caillaux and the ruthless slaughter of the Paris mob. All his life was a bitter and glorious fight. With Victor Hugo, with Benoit-Malon and others, he lifted the immortal protest of justice against Prussian militarism. His whole career was colored by the souvenir of the 1871 defeat. He alone it was who protested at the parliament of Bordeaux, against surrender to Prussia. For him the war began in '70 did not end till November, 1918. The interval between '71 and 1914 was but an armistice. During the war he was the man of victory. A son of the French revolution the general staff discovered that he placed civil power above the military. Hence his quarrel with Foch. On November 11, 1918, it was thought nothing could be added to his glory. Beaten by those whom he had helped to election, he retreated. History has few precedents for such dignified and even haughty behavior. He remained unmoved in his solitude. Only once did he emerge. That was when he crossed the ocean "to remind the American people of the injustice she was about to commit." In this he acted with all the dignity of classic times.

His uncompromising septic that was Georges Clemenceau, the man who coined the phrase: "Neither God, nor master" was nevertheless the one who inspired France with faith at a moment when all seemed lost. This was when the disaster of the Chemin des Dames took place in 1917 and Nivelle was smashed by the German counter-prince. Entire French army corps were wiped out. The front line was moved forward under Frederick's sledgehammer blows. A spirit of defeatism spread through the army and several regiments threw away their equipment. The morale of the army was shattered. The moment was desperate. One statesman still living today uttered the words: "France is lost." Clemenceau replied: "Je fais la guerre." He departed for the front to talk with the disheartened troops. One of the men of an affected regiment came up to him and asked a luncheon. "No, no," Clemenceau replied, "I am not a man of letters. I am a man of action." He carried to the front the tribune in the chamber. He told the story of the poilus and of their devotion. Everybody was moved. The confidence returned. France was saved. The bouquet he kept near him always. He has it in his hands now, in that cave on the storm-swept coast of the Vendée.

Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.

The Poilus' Flowers.

How seven persons, including a priest, died at an attack of 1,000 peasants marching on Chantel, in the Aux Cayes district, Saturday was told in unofficial advice received here. The gendarmerie, the police and three civilians merely bandaged arms and the mob, having heard of the Aux Cayes casualties, thought better of its proposed attack. The priest, a young man named William Woodcock, to which they were transferred from the passenger freighter Martine after a heavy fight from Chantel, was killed by a bullet in the chest. The other six were killed by a bullet in the chest. The other six were killed by a bullet in the chest.

Max Vieux, 20, member of a prominent old Haitian family, was arrested while sitting at a table in a restaurant. He was charged with having violated the martial edict by visiting Conave, north of here, and Aux Cayes, on the southern Haiti coast, in order to incite students there to strike.

He was charged also, with Crismine Lavature, 20, and Gaston Woodcock, 20, with the use of milk trucks of the service technique. The service technique, managed by deliveries of milk to the army, was used by the three to transport arms and munitions to the strike.

The customs house and other business places in Port Au Prince were shut down by the strike. It was in the customs house that a riot started Wednesday which led to the only disturbances in Port Au Prince.

View taken from the penitentiary here, where he joined other strike prisoners. The additional prisoners being brought from Aux Cayes were to be detained in the same place.

An official summary of news issued here explained that the censorship involved under the martial law edict forbids "seditious or alarming newspaper articles" and expressed hope the opposition press would resume publication. Three newspapers, La Presse, Le Nouvelliste and La Presse, were stopped and were urged to publish again by Brigade Commander Cable of the marines.

The order becomes effective December 10 and the certificates will be redeemed at par and accrued interest. The first interest is being paid at 4.14 per cent and the second at 4.34 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Reports of serious conditions in Haiti continued to reach Washington tonight as 500 United States marines were moved toward the island republic to assist the 700 already there in maintaining peace.

The cruiser Albatross, which was requested by Brigadier General John H. Russell, the American high commissioner in Haiti, to assist the marines, arrived today in Jacmel, 20 miles from Port Au Prince, the capital, to evacuate American women and children.

A gathering of the largest body of malcontents, reported to be about 1,000, was indicated in a telegram received last today from General Russell.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced today that he had authorized federal reserve banks to redeem in cash before maturity, at the holders' option, treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TD-1929 and TD-2-1929 which are payable on demand.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The order becomes effective December 10 and the certificates will be redeemed at par and accrued interest.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The order becomes effective December 10 and the certificates will be redeemed at par and accrued interest.

Senate Leaders Seek Way For Fair Vote On Tax Cut But Program Still in Air

Question of Priority Expected To Be Threshed Out in Upper House Today.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Senate leaders sought an arrangement today for dividing the $100,000,000 tax reduction resolution but the program was in doubt tonight.

Advocates for the democratic-republican independent coalition which has control of the tariff measure offered to set that bill aside tomorrow under an agreement that the tax resolution be taken up immediately and voted upon by Tuesday at the latest.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, who sought the arrangement today on procedure, took under consideration this offer but Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, who has charge of the tax reduction resolution, was determined tonight to go ahead with the tariff bill first.

However, it appeared likely that the question of priority of the tax or the tariff bill would be threshed out tomorrow on the floor when Senator Smoot reports the resolution in the same form it was adopted by the house last week.

Adoption by the senate of the tax resolution amendment seemed assured with both democratic and republican independents considering an attempt to modify the resolution but they realized that such an effort probably will be futile without support from the republican regulars or from the tariffists.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the western republican independent group, announced today that he would agree to the tariff resolution after one day or two days of debate and then return to the tariff.

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

Senator Smoot, major comment, merely announcing "we will go ahead tomorrow with the tariff bill and we will keep it until we know when we are going to vote on the tax bill."

SIX PERSONS INJURED WHILE AUTO CRASHES

Five Hurt in Mishap on Moreland Ave.; Wife of Minister Cut in Accident.

Six persons were slightly injured in two automobile accidents early Sunday night.

Five of these were hurt in one mishap when two cars ran together at the intersection of Moreland avenue and Wiley street, J. C. Clay, of 1902 Flat Shoals road, driver of one car, going north on Moreland avenue, was struck by the rear of a car driven by O. L. Dial, of 1514 DeKalb avenue, who was driving east on Wiley street, accompanied by members of his family, was slightly injured. His wife, Mrs. Martha Lee Dial, was injured about the back, while their children, Dorothy, 10, was cut about the face; Evelyn, 7, and Rebecca, 2, were bruised and shaken up.

All were treated at Grady hospital and later allowed to return to their homes. Patrolmen George Cole and H. R. Harper docketed cases of reckless driving against both drivers.

The wife of the Rev. Lester E. Smith, pastor of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, was cut about the head and knees when the car in which she was riding was struck by another auto driven by an unknown white man, on North Boulevard near North avenue. Mrs. Smith was taken to the Georgia Baptist hospital, treated and allowed to return to her home at 564 1/2 street. Mr. Smith, who was driving the car at the time of the accident, reported it to Police Captain J. A. Holcomb.

Christmas presents, consisting of groceries, clothing and shoes, will be given the ex-slaves and other negroes who are unable to work and who have no relatives or friends to help them.

NEGRO CHURCHES HELPING IN DRIVE FOR EX-SLAVES

The twentieth anniversary of the Ex-Slave Association, an organization sponsored by the colored citizens of Atlanta, is receiving the support of the local churches of the city, Rev. R. R. Holmes said Sunday morning in an address in Big Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church, of which Rev. J. M. Wilder is pastor.

The anniversary will be held at the headquarters of the association on Christmas eve, and the annual sermon will be delivered by Rev. H. McFarlin, presiding elder of the South Atlanta district of the A. M. E. church. Rev. J. A. Hadley, president of the association, will make the opening address.

Christmas presents, consisting of groceries, clothing and shoes, will be given the ex-slaves and other negroes who are unable to work and who have no relatives or friends to help them.

TWO PILOTS BURN, TWO OTHERS HURT

Continued from First Page.

The record attempt, but after the eighth flight he returned home and left the arrangements to a local commander.

Dempsey was a former mail and stunt pilot and Smith was a licensed mechanic. Both were well known at Lambert field, St. Louis, and at the Municipal airport, St. Louis, where they had worked with Norvel. Their bodies will be sent to St. Louis tomorrow.

Probe Started.

J. R. Puckett, inspector of the aeronautical division of the department of commerce, started an investigation of the crash today and blamed the crash here on overloading, dense fog and weather conditions. He had not yet seen the wreck near Kissimmee.

"Endurance flights have the sanction of the department of commerce to overload their planes for refueling contacts," he said. "The crash was due to those unfortunate things that can happen."

When the refueling ship crashed onlookers saw a burst of flames shoot into the air. The plane was standing in the rear cockpit as the plane's tail was upright in the air. The gas tank and Dempsey's body were in the front of the plane against the motor and then crashed open, saturating the body with gasoline. Rescuers were within 30 feet of the scorching heat.

Four boys who had been keeping bonfires burning at the field during the flight were the first to reach the wreck. They were the only eyewitnesses.

Edward Suarez, one of them, said he saw the plane go into a nose dive and then crash. He saw the plane hit the ground and saw the motor buried in the earth. The first started immediately and the heat kept rising. The plane was within 30 feet of the scorching heat.

When the flames died down the bodies were recovered and several human remains were found. The wreckage was carried to the field.

Meantime a search was started for the bodies of the two pilots. Two planes from St. Petersburg and four from Tampa scoured this section without success. A coast guard cutter was sent to St. Petersburg to search along the Gulf for two fliers, believed down in the fog.

Carothers and Schrock, at Kissimmee, had no money and put in the phone call from the police station there to Dempsey here. They learned that he and Smith had been killed and Carothers and Schrock returned here tonight.

Mishaps marred all the nine attempts of the St. Petersburg team to set a new record. The plane was downed by a broken cylinder and it never was able to stay up for more than 40 hours.

Dempsey friend of Lindbergh.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Elmer A. (Boots) Dempsey, one of two St. Louis airmen killed today at Tampa, Fla., when a refueling plane they were flying crashed, was a veteran flyer and friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Dempsey, 34, learned to fly in 1922 and was one of the aviators associated with Lindbergh at Lambert St. Louis field here. Later Dempsey became pilot of a private plane owned by the late John D. Johnson, of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Company, succeeding Forrest O'Brien, co-holder of the present endurance record, in that position.

Stanley Smith, the other flyer killed at Tampa, was known here chiefly as an airplane mechanic. He formerly was in the army air service at Scott field, Illinois. He was associated with Dempsey here and at Chattanooga and about two months ago made an unsuccessful attempt to set a new endurance record at Granite City, Ill. R. W. Schrock and Leonard Carothers, endurance flyers, injured at Tampa following the crash of the refueling plane, were associated with Dempsey and Smith in the Granite City venture. Schrock resided at Taylorville, Ill., where he was a mechanic.

Neither Smith nor Dempsey were married.

Here Is Opportunity No. 2

Cold can be fiendish, can inflict torture on the strongest. The cold, wet weather of Atlanta, bearing with it the black shadow of choking pneumonia, has attacked a feeble mother and four weak children who cannot fight back. Coldness can be painful, especially when it wraps its icy fingers around defenseless hearts.

10 HOMES FACE BLEAK CHRISTMAS

Continued from First Page.

One of these ten mothers looking into the face of her child and tell the starving little one about a Babe lying humbly in a manger, without feeling resentment against those to whom chance has made more than a drag from cheap restaurants, refuse from prosperous tables, these are more than they have now. The ten neediest families ask only the opportunity you can give them to lead clean, worthwhile lives.

Here is your chance to save a deserving family, and to bring infinite joy and gratitude into the lives of the most miserable homes in Atlanta. Give a tired young mother and her three pale, weak children a chance to live honest lives and contribute to your happiness. Remember that their pleasure is relief from wretchedness and their unbounded gladness at receiving the bare necessities of life will be nothing compared with your infinite joy of the giver.

Christmas should be a day of rejoicing and plenty. Do you want it to bring the anguish of pain, hunger, cold, to the ten families, sorrow, worn, tired-out, feeble families? Here is your chance. Opportunity No. 2 has no more call. Are you going to let them shiver and freeze in their wretched, miserable shack, while you enjoy your merry Christmas? Or will you take the opportunity to change sorrow into gladness, pallor into ruddiness, depression into hope?

U. S. TAKES STEP TO JOIN COURT

Continued from First Page.

drafted what has become known as the "Root protocol" to solve this problem of advisory opinions. His formula is satisfactory to court members. Root acted with the approval of Mr. Hoover, secretary of state.

Stimson argued for the world court as necessary to carry forward the Kellogg peace pact, in which the United States took the lead.

Pointing to the Kellogg pact, Stimson said:

"By this event not only has the need of developing judicial means instead of war to settle the inevitable controversies between nations become more pressing, it has become more important to establish and clarify the standards and rules of international conduct by which such controversies can be prevented or minimized."

"Never has there been a period in the world's history when there was such an imperative need for the development of international law by an international court."

Stimson thus hinted that President Hoover's next step, once the United States is in the court, is to secure a court of international justice.

In the great future work of transforming the civilization of this world from a basis of war and force to one of peace founded upon justice, we today stand at the threshold, he said. "But it is already evident that in this work the world court is destined to perform a most fruitful and important part. It is also clear that such an agency is most closely in line with the traditions and habit of thought of America than any other nation."

And finally it is now possible for us to assist in the support and development of this judicial agent without in the slightest degree jeopardizing our traditional policy as a government of peace and justice. American questions with which we are concerned."

Dangers Removed.

The secretary said it seemed to him that the dangers which seemed to inhibit the consideration of advisory opinions by the court at the time the question was last presented to this government in 1926 have now been removed. It was the action of the court itself and by the provisions of these new protocols. The objections which caused the reservations to be made in 1926 are now removed. Stimson divided the reservation into three parts:

1. No advisory opinion shall be rendered except publicly and after due notice.

He explained that the court statutes will guarantee that procedure.

2. No advisory opinion shall be made without the consent of the United States in any dispute in which this country has an interest.

The secretary pointed to the amendment to the court statutes which will compel the court to refuse to consider a case in which one of the interested parties refuses to consent to consideration and cooperate.

Of court members, only Albania, Costa Rica, Ethiopia and Lithuania have failed to approve the Root formula.

EUROPEAN SHORES LASHED BY GALE

Continued from First Page.

fer, a German, was lost overboard, but it was presumed he was a suicide.

At Calumet harbor was filled with crippled shipping due to the storm. The famous scenic valley of Wye was flooded from Bakewell to Haddon Hall and Rowley because the river Wye was unable to carry off the heavy rainfall. The port of Folkestone was still closed to cross-channel steamers.

Bodies Washed Ashore.

There had been communication between Weymouth and the channel islands since Thursday. Many persons who went to that port Saturday night to cross to the islands slept on Weymouth quay. The woman proprietor was buried under the debris of the boat. The bodies of 10 guests escaped without harm.

Wreckage strewn the coasts. Several bodies were washed ashore. One of the bodies was that of a French sailor. The Italian steamer La Radiata, an appeal for help, 150 miles west of Ushant light. The German steamer Henschel was wrecked off the coast and the Spanish freighter Mari was drifting helplessly in the English channel off Boulogne.

In the chill front room of a tumble-down little hotel sits a cold, shawl-wrapped young mother and three small children, crowding close to the embers of a pitiful fire. The infant's face is drawn with cold as it lies motionless in its mother's arms.

As the waning light of the dying fire is reflected on her face, we can see that the underfed woman is really beautiful, and that her face, neck and hands are of an exquisitely symmetrical and pleasing type, despite their painful thinness.

The meager clothing of these shivering little children is really pathetic, especially when one considers that there is no more coal left, and that another cold snap is threatening.

DEMON OF FAMINE CHEATS COLD OF PREY.

But the hollow-eyed demon of famine is swiftly cheating the cold of his prey. These people are hungry. A look into the empty larger would pain the heart of anyone. Life is a little harder for these children who haven't anything to eat.

The mother of the family has done a day's washing in cold water, and piles of clean, neatly-folded rags litter the lumpy old bed. The walls of the room are wooden and bare, and the coldness, misery, and desolation.

Not a sound escapes the lips of one of them.

The principal sufferer in this stark little drama of frozen and starved life is only 24 years old. Her oldest child is 4, her youngest less than a year old. She would be naturally a bright, vivacious temperament, but this has been choked out long ago, and dull eyes look over blanked cheeks. A thin wail from the baby breaks the deathlike stillness.

MOTHER IS FACING COMPLETE ISOLATION.

One of the main terrors that haunts this mother is that the family which occupies the room is liable to move away any day, and she may be left alone, with her three cold, hungry children.

Her husband died more than a year ago, and she has been ill with pellagra, caused by undernourishment, ever since. Only recently did she regain strength enough to attend to her household duties.

That does the future hold in store for her and her children, whose youth has been bitterly torn and mutilated by suffering and responsibility, and whose last lump of coal was burned out Sunday morning? Will anyone help them? Won't everyone help them?

The gift of $26 a month will provide food, fuel and a milk diet for the baby, will aid in restoring the mother's health, will clothe the children, and will afford some Atlanta the opportunity of brightening a desolate pathway. Mail your check to Ten Opportunities Editors, The Constitution, today.

recovered at Hartland was believed to be that of the radio operator of the steamer Radio, which sank Saturday. The Greek steamer P. lost several lifeboats, and one of its crew was sent ashore with a broken leg.

Lifeboats of the British liner Valencia were smashed and other deck damage done by the mammoth waves. The steamer Radio, which had suffered from a broken leg, the Cunarder Lancastria called at Cork this morning and later sailed for New York. The ship's electrical apparatus had been disabled yesterday when the ship was struck by lightning while in the channel.

Britishers Ashore.

The steamer Rowanburn made port but hatches stove in and decks cracked. It was feared that the ship would go to sea when distress signals were received at Portland.

The British steamer Britannia drove ashore between Weymouth, and Saint Gwynes, Pembroke, Wales, and the steamer Tehana and a lifeboat were proceeding to the assistance of the ship.

The Italian steamer Leonardo Da Vinci reported by radio tonight that it still was fighting a furious gale but that it was confident of weathering the storm. The ship is bringing paintings valued at 14,000,000 pounds for a special exhibition here.

Two members of the crew of the destroyer Valcour were washed overboard and drowned while the vessel was en route from Portsmouth to Chatham. The destroyer was forced back to Portsmouth.

COAST OF FRANCE HIT BY BLOW.

BREST, France, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Several ships either foundered or were in distress today in the most violent tempest which has struck the French Atlantic seaboard in many years.

The ocean-going tug Inoue made port this afternoon with the survivors of the Danish cargo boat Helen, which lost her first mate and one sailor off Ushant light early today when a gigantic comb swept the deck.

The Spanish freighter Galadames went aground just outside Brest Roads in Brestleux. Two members of the crew were drowned.

The British ship Essex, from Heath, was waterlogged and reported sinking between Ushant and Brest. The British ship Tinbridge wrecked ashore was foundering 25 miles west of Bishop's Rock.

The three-master Notre Dame Bonnewelle, a French sailing vessel, the schooner Berth both foundered off Ushant light this morning. The crews were saved.

Look at Your Shoes

KLEIN'S
SHOE REPAIR
RAPID SERVICE WHILE YOU WAIT

41 Peachtree St., at Five Points

Sterling Silver Flatware

Pieces of flatware will receive a warm welcome on Christmas morning. If you do not know the pattern you wish to match you will be glad to obtain this information for you, so that your gift will be a surprise on Christmas morning. Salad Forks, Bouillon Spoons, Cocktail Forks and other essential pieces in many beautiful patterns for your selection. Monograms engraved without additional cost.

SHOP EARLY!

MAIER & BERKELE, Inc.

For Forty-Two Years the Leading Jewelers of the South.
111 Peachtree St. Established 1887

Reserve Board Builds Up Credit Base for Movement Of Commerce Next Year

Increase Purchases of U. S. Securities and Decrease Holdings in Discount Bills Is Effected.

BY ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT, United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—While business is taking stock of its true status in collaboration with administration authorities at Washington, the federal reserve board, moving with its usual quiet efficiency, has not been inactive in building up a credit basis for a continued movement of commerce in 1930. Board members have been primarily concerned with maintaining easy money conditions deemed so necessary to the revival of construction and rejuvenation of the bond market. They have been active as well in entrenching the position of member banks by discouraging indebtedness to the federal reserve system.

To this end last week alone they increased their purchases of government securities by $29,046,000, while decreasing by $40,039,000 their holdings of discounted bills, supplying the necessary credit while decreasing the member bank debt to the reserve board.

The system is now faced with a new problem in offsetting the growing exportation of gold from New York. In view of the nation's present large reserve of the metal, which stands at $2,922,968,000 against $2,617,600,000 a year ago, there is no considerable concern here about the movement. If credit is to continue in abundant supply, however, there must be no serious depletion, and it is believed the board will use its influence to counteract extensive shipments. This attitude as well may explain in part recent additions to the system's portfolio of government securities.

The shift in the direction of gold movements, which led to the shipment of $10,000,000 to France Thursday, and promises further exportation to England and other continental countries, is the expected sequel to the lower call money and discount rates instituted in this country. Although general reduction in the discount rates of the 12 federal reserve districts has not proceeded with the speed at first expected, it is reasonable to believe that conditions prevailing in the interior banks have not yet become entirely adjusted to the New York situation, which naturally is the most sensitive to stock market and money rate changes.

CANNED ASPARAGUS
Serve cold with salad dressing, or hot with melted butter, and add
LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE

Thursday's cut in the rate of the San Francisco bank leaves eight of the districts still to take action if all of the rates are to be brought to the 4 1/2 per cent level.

FARM FEDERATION OPENS MEETING IN CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—With its official attitude toward the recently adopted government farm relief measures awaited throughout the country, the American farm bureau federation will open its 11th annual meeting here tomorrow.

Arrangements have been made for the accommodation of 5,000 farmers from nearly every state in the union and parts of Canada. The convention will close Wednesday night.

Chief among other topics to be discussed are co-operative marketing, taxation, waterway development, farm financing, child welfare and hard roads. The sentiment of the federation, representing approximately 1,500,000 farm families, on these subjects will be crystallized in resolutions to be passed on the final day of the meeting.

Intimation of the federation's stand on acts adopted by the government for rehabilitating agriculture is expected tomorrow in the annual address of President Sam H. Thompson. Leaders vigorously opposed all farm legislation that did not include the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen measures, which were vetoed by President Coolidge after passing both houses of congress. Since then bills setting up a federal farm board to stabilize agriculture through co-operative control of crop surpluses have been adopted, and keen interest in political as well as agricultural circles attaches to the sentiment of the meeting on those measures.

RADIUM CAUSED DEATH, AUTOPSY ESTABLISHES

Normal Weight of 140 Reduced to 77 By Poison.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—An autopsy today established that radium poisoning was a contributory cause of the death of Mrs. Quinta McDonald, Orange, N. J., one of five women poisoned by radium in a New Jersey factory several years ago.

Mrs. McDonald, the mother of two children, died yesterday at Memorial hospital, where she had been a patient 10 weeks. She and the four other women were poisoned by using their lips to point brushes with which they painted luminous watch dials.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. Harrison S. Martland, chief medical examiner of Essex county, New Jersey, and was witnessed by Dr. Charles A. Norris, chief medical examiner of New York city, and other physicians of city departments. The findings were described as of the greatest scientific interest.

The official report of the autopsy disclosed that death was due to "sarcoma of the pelvis with tumor metastases (seeding, or transference of a disease from one part or from one organ to another) in lungs, liver and typical mesothorium or radium osteitis of femur and spinal column."

The contributory cause was stated as "radium poisoning, an occupational disease."

It was learned that the next step will be for Dr. Robert H. Gettler, city toxicologist, to extract the radium excretions from the bones, teeth, viscera and tumor mass.

Mrs. McDonald's normal weight was reported as 140 pounds, and at the time of her death it was said she weighed only 77 pounds.

Mrs. McDonald had been employed in the New Jersey factory of the United States Radium Corporation and painted the faces of watch dials with a luminous paint containing a small quantity of radium. She and the other four women sued the corporation for an aggregate of $1,250,000 and in a settlement out of court each received $10,000 and costs of medical attention.

The other four women are Miss Katherine Schaud, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Edna Hussman, Hillsdale, N. J.; Miss Grace Fryer, Orange, N. J.; and Mrs. Albina Larice, sister of Mrs. McDonald, Orange.

BLACK-HAND BOMB KILLS 3 CHILDREN IN BROOKLYN HOME

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 8.—(United News)—Three children of Joseph Falzone, an Italian contractor, were killed today when a package they found on the kitchen table, and which they thought had been left by Santa Claus, exploded with a deafening roar.

The blast shook the neighborhood for blocks around, shattering windows and creating general consternation. Police, working under the direction of Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, are working on the theory that the bomb was placed in the Falzone home by Italian black-handers. Falzone received a threatening letter last October, signed with a skull and crossbones.

The three dead children are Mary, 15; Phillip, 13, and Rose, 8. They were dressed and ready to leave for morning mass when Rose spied the package on the table. Mary had a $10 bill in her hand which her mother had just given her for the collection plate at church.

ILLEGAL TAXES OF $126,595,318 RETURNED IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Refunds of $126,595,318 were made to taxpayers during the fiscal year 1929 for taxes illegally collected.

This was shown today in the annual report of Robert H. Lucas, commissioner of internal revenue, which added that total overassessments aggregated $339,528,941, but of this amount $176,938,577 was satisfied through abatement and $36,535,245 by credit. The number of claims filed during the year reached 50,290, involving a total of $613,052,371. Interest on the refunds amounted to $38,768,622.

The commissioner reported income tax collections for the year amounted to $2,331,274,428, as compared with $2,174,573,102 for the previous year. Total collections, including the miscellaneous taxes, reached $2,939,054,375, as compared with $2,790,535,537 in the 1928 fiscal year.

RUBIO REFUSES TO SEE REPORTERS AT HOT SPRINGS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 8.—(AP)—President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico, here for a period of rest before assuming his office, became "just one of the guests" of the Arlington hotel today, chatting through an interpreter with guests in the lobby throughout the greater part of the day.

The president-elect declined to see newspapermen, however, explaining he had nothing he thought would be of interest to the public.

He added his conversation with the guests of the hotel was "purely social," and members of his party declared he was thoroughly enjoying the day. Senora Rubio also joined with the conversation, as did other members of the party.

Luis Quintanilla, secretary to Senor Rubio, said the president-elect is doing just what he came here for to "rest and recuperate"—and said there would be no statement forthcoming from the party tonight.

WAR-TIME DRAFT OF CAPITAL ASKED IN PATMAN BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—An amendment to the constitution to permit the drafting of capital and industry by the government in time of war will be proposed in a resolution to be introduced tomorrow by Representative Patman, democrat, Texas.

Patman said in a statement, "The object of the proposed amendment is to permit congress to pass laws taking the profit out of war."

"The American Legion cannot carry into execution its plans to take the profit out of war until this amendment is adopted," he said. "Under our present constitution manpower can be drafted without profit to the men who do the fighting, as was done during the recent war, but the constitution provides that just compensation must be paid to private property or capital."

Sub-Freezing Weather Seen For City Today

The tail end of a wintry blast direct from Santa Claus' home town of icy Cape is due to reach Atlanta today.

day, the official weather prognosticator ventures in his forecast.

Reports have it that the middle west and the north generally will feel the tinge of cold while here the mercury is expected to go a little below the freezing point.

The cold snap, if it may be called that, won't be all to the bad, however, for it will give Mrs. Smith further argument for that fur coat she has been trying to pry out of friend husband for so many days. His best argument, that she doesn't need

Night Coughing Quickly Relieved

Famous Prescription Gives Almost Instant Relief

Night coughs, or coughs caused by a cold or by an irritated throat are usually due to causes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. But the very first swallow of Thoxine is guaranteed to stop the most stubborn cough almost instantly. Thoxine is a doctor's prescription, working on an entirely different principle, it goes direct to the internal cause.

Thoxine contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Sold on a money back guarantee to give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throats than anything you have ever tried. Ask for Thoxine, put ready for use in 35c., 60c., and $1.00 bottles. Sold by all Druggists.—(adv.)

a fur coat, may be blasted before the week is out.

Sunday's temperatures ranged from 40 degrees to a high of 56.

WOMAN BURNED WHEN CLOTHING BECOMES IGNITED

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 8.—(Special).—Mrs. Mary Reynolds, Milledgeville woman, who was in jail here awaiting trial for stabbing a prominent Milledgeville businessman, was severely burned when her clothes caught fire from a stove near which she was standing. She caught up a blanket and wrapped herself in it, but she was burned badly before the flames were extinguished. She was removed to the home of Envo and Mrs. Edwin P. Scoville, Salvation Army workers here.

BOOK-ENDS AND DESK-SETS -98c- SOU. BOOK CONCERN 103 WHITEHALL STREET

DR. E. G. GRIFFIN, Dentist
Crown and Bridge Work, $5
35 years successfully serving the Atlanta public—and numbering my satisfied patients by the thousands.
A Good Set of Teeth as Low as $7
93½ Whitehall St., S. W. WALL 6576

DETROIT and CLEVELAND
2 Fine Fast Trains Daily
The Southland The Flamingo
Leave UNION STATION 8:23 a. m. 6:15 p. m.
Arrive DETROIT 8:35 a. m. 4:23 p. m.
Arrive CLEVELAND 8:20 a. m. 4:40 p. m.
Observation car—Drawing room and open section sleepers
Unexcelled dining car service—Coaches
Tickets and reservations 67 Luckie St., Phone WA 2726
F. T. ALEXANDER, Div. Pass'r Agt.
101 Marietta St. Phone WA 1400

To Assure Good NATURAL GAS Service

More than twelve hundred men have been working for months to adapt the distribution system of the Atlanta Gas Light Company to Natural Gas. More than a million and a half dollars are being spent in Atlanta in this work, and in carrying gas service to whole districts which have not before had it.

You may have wondered at the construction work you have observed throughout Atlanta, and which, much to our regret, may have caused you some inconvenience. You may be interested to know why it was necessary.

Natural Gas, by reason of its much greater usefulness and higher heat content, will unquestionably be used far more widely than manufactured gas has been. This increased demand will be in excess of what the present system of mains could care for. It would be impossible to maintain a proper and uniform pressure throughout the city, and your service would not be satisfactory. If you live at a great distance from the source, in other words, the gas would be used up before it got to you.

To overcome this, large, high pressure feeder mains, independent of the distribution mains have been constructed (more than thirty miles of it) to connect with the low pressure mains at the proper points. These, with a proper system of regulating stations which are also being installed, will keep pressure at a proper point, with a demand of approximately ten times what it now is. Inadequate distribution mains have been replaced. Antiquated parts of the system have been modernized, and mains have been laid to serve thousands of homes which have not before been able to obtain gas service.

The Gas Company, of course, does not own your range, or water heaters or other domestic gas burning equipment. But it has assumed the responsibility of remodeling them to the extent necessary to make them able to use the new gas efficiently. More than one hundred expert workmen are being trained to do this work quickly and correctly, and this item alone will cost this company more than one hundred thousand dollars in Atlanta.

Laying a pipe line over four hundred miles from gas fields to Atlanta is a noteworthy accomplishment, and a spectacular one.

Just as essential, and very difficult, but not as dramatic an undertaking, is the remodeling of an entire distribution system to make it efficient in serving the citizens of Atlanta with an entirely different fuel.

ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY

Announcement

Wiley Jones
Furniture Shoppe
Going Out of Business
Offering Entire Stock of Furniture at Unusually Low Prices!
"For Cash Only"

Due to extremely poor business conditions we find it necessary to liquidate. The entire stock, without any reservations, is being offered at about factory cost—this is an unusual opportunity to buy high-grade home furnishings at prices which would be quite impossible to offer under the usual way of doing business.

Because of discontinuing business and extremely low prices all sales will be for cash only.

Goods may be stored for future delivery with small storage charges.

Wiley Jones
FURNITURE SHOPPE
671 Peachtree St.
In the Stephen Philibosian Building

"TICKLETOES" THE ALMOST HUMAN BABY DOLL

—Will Make Any Little Girl Happy According to These Three Young Mothers—Who Ought to Know, Because Each of Them Have Earned One of These Constitution Baby Dolls

JUANITA SUMNER, Atlanta

BERNICE SUMNER, Atlanta

MARION SUMNER, Atlanta

ANY LITTLE GIRL CAN BE MAMMA TO A "TICKLETOES" DOLL

FOR "TICKLETOES" IS GIVEN--

FREE

--FOR ONLY 2 NEW SUBSCRIP-TIONS TO THE DAILY AND SUNDAY CONSTITUTION

Hundreds of Little Girls Already Have Her

All the little girls who have seen "Tickletoes" can't resist loving her, and naturally they would love her because she's so life-like, and what little girl don't love a real live baby? She is dimply and cute and does all the things that every tiny baby does—sucks her thumb—clasps her hands—rolls her eyes—goes to sleep—sits up—cries—holds her bottle—and does many other darling pranks.

She is the happiest doll you ever saw, dressed elegantly in pink organdy with real stockings, cute little moccasins, rubber panties and a darling cap with lace ribbons on it. Her legs and arms are of rubber and her soft little toes and fingers are just like a real live baby's. She is unbreakable and has three different voices and is 21 inches tall—just about as long as this newspaper page.

MAIL THIS COUPON NOW

DOLL REGISTRATION COUPON
Fill out below and bring or mail at once to:
The Atlanta Constitution, Forsyth and Alabama Sts. Atlanta, Ga.	Date .....
Please enroll my name for one of the free dolls offered by The Atlanta Constitution, and send me at once full particulars of how to earn same.
Name .....
Street Address .....
City .....	State .....
Phone No. ....

And, Girls, the wonderful part about this offer is, that money is not required. You don't need a single penny to get "Tickletoes." She is given for just a small task that won't be a bit hard for any of you or take but little of your time. Ask some of your grown-up friends to help you, and it won't take long at all. You'll have the two subscriptions before you know it, and then "Tickletoes" is yours absolutely free. This is positively all there is to it. Hundreds of other little girls have won her and you can, too.

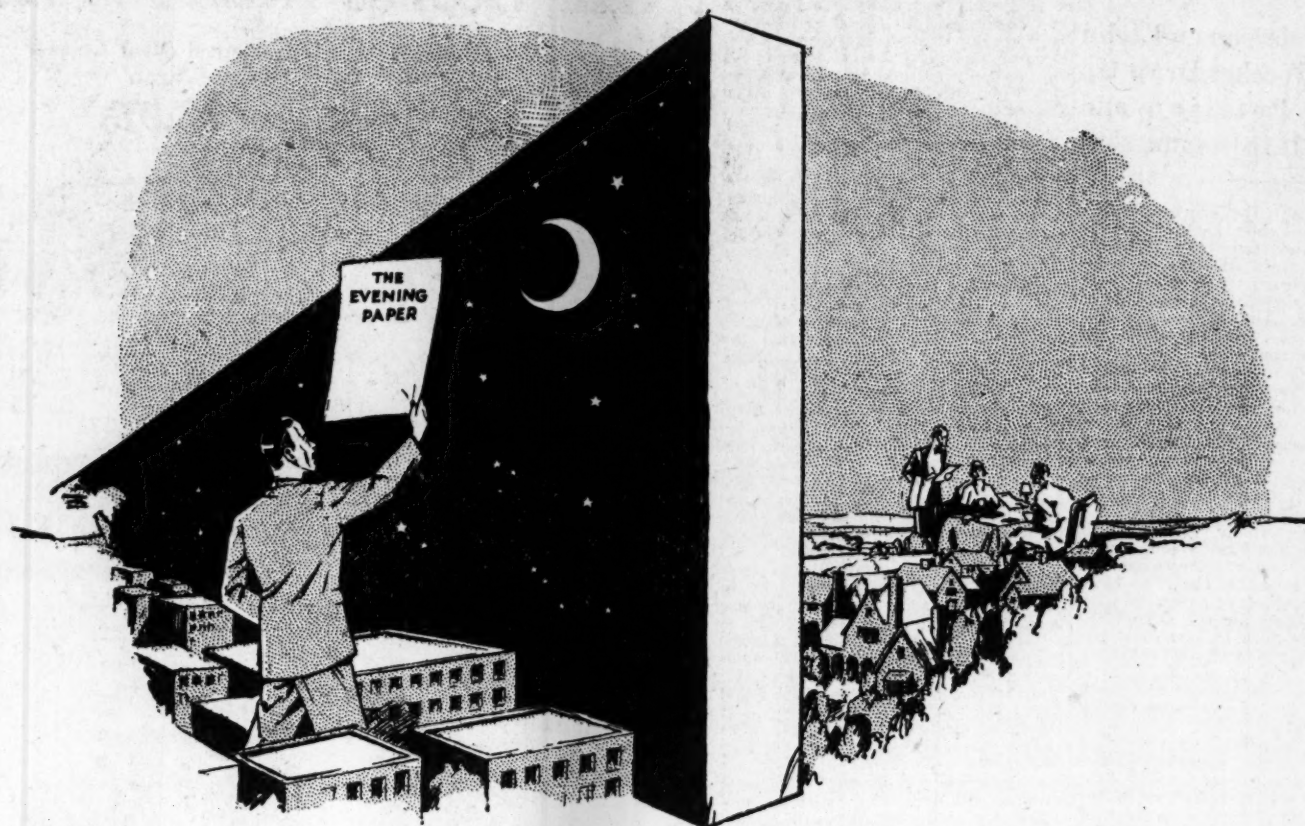

No money is required. Simply mail or bring the coupon at the left, now, to The Atlanta Constitution and the necessary information and subscription plans will be mailed or given you so you can get started immediately.

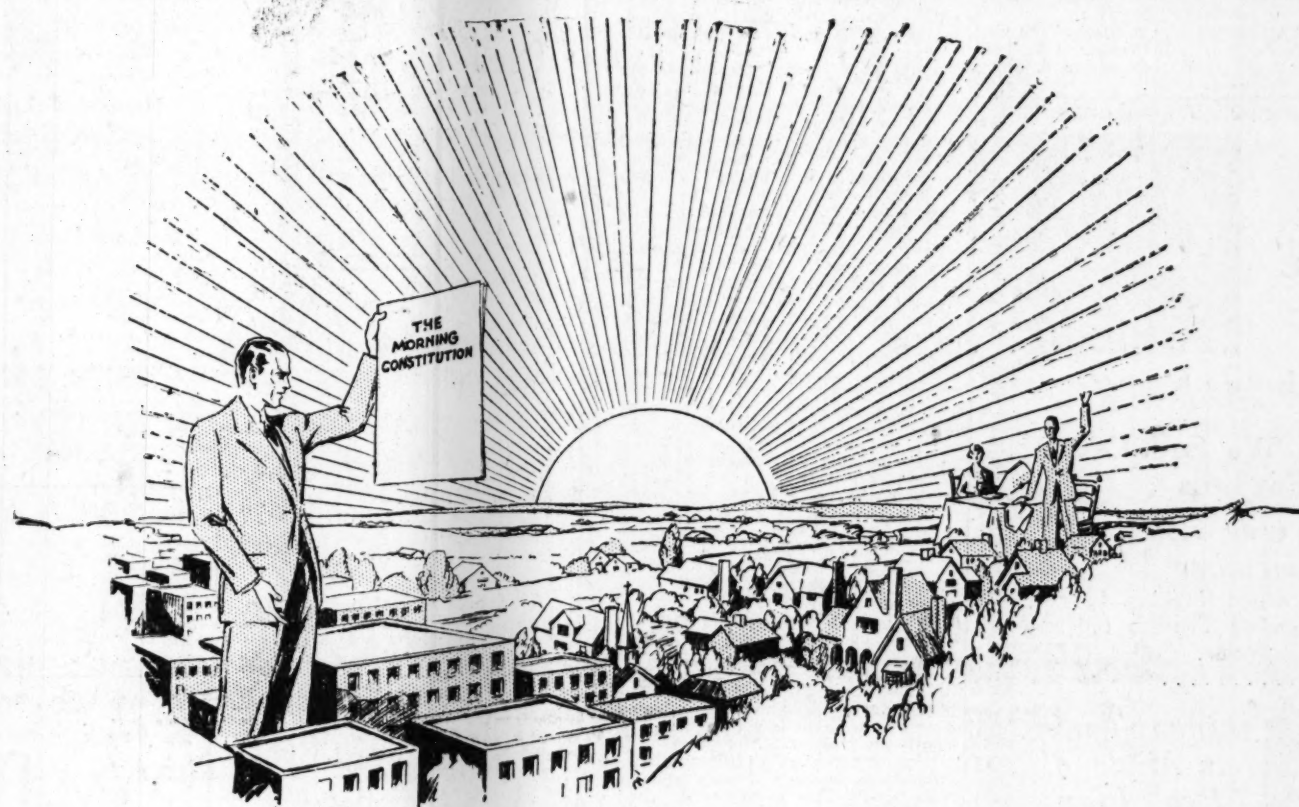

"AND ALL AROUND WAS DARKNESS LIKE A WALL" —WILLIAM MORRIS

Why Try to Combat This "Wall of Darkness"....

When You Don't Have To?

Advertisers carefully plan the time of the year—the time of the month—that their advertisements are to appear. And isn't it also important to plan the time of day that they will be published?

Atlanta has one morning newspaper, The Constitution, and two afternoon papers. The evening newspapers face a handicap right at the start, when it comes to serving advertisers. Their papers, their advertisements, are read in the evening, or at night—and a veritable wall of darkness must intervene before the reader even has opportunity to act upon the suggestions offered in the advertisements. Advertising in an evening paper virtually says: "Here is something to consider, and if you don't forget it over night—then act on it tomorrow."

But tomorrow never comes—in all too many cases!

Morning Newspapers Are Essentially "ACTION" Newspapers

No such wall of darkness — no such delay — confronts the advertiser who places his faith in the morning Constitution. The paper, the advertisements, are read in the morning, when readers' bodies and minds alike are refreshed and alert. Decisions are more quickly made, in the morning, and more quickly translated into action—namely sales for advertisers.

The latest (Sept. 30th) statements of the three Atlanta newspapers to the Audit Bureau of Circulations should be in your possession. They are the surest guide to advertising efficiency. Phone WALnut 6565 if you have not seen the A. B. C. statements within the last few weeks.

Advertisers Can Now Reach the Entire Atlanta Market with ONE Newspaper

The daily circulation of The Atlanta Constitution is now 96,047 — which means a lead of 14,000 copies over the nearest afternoon paper. Of this total, 79,505 go into Atlanta's trading area—the 75-mile radius.

This means that 83% of The Constitution's circulation goes directly to the territory that has:

- 43% of the population of the State.
- 44% of the towns over 1,000 population.
- 49% of the motor cars.
- 57% of the income tax returns.
- 53% of the purchasing power.

To reach this prosperous, responsive market with your advertising message, you need use only the columns of The Constitution. One paper, one cost, one result: increased sales for your product or service!

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Largest Circulation, Morning or Evening, of Any Daily Newspaper in ATLANTA

"THE MORNING HOUR HAS GOLD IN ITS MOUTH" —OLD PROVERB

VALDOSTA POSTAL EMPLOYEES HONORED

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 8.—Following her annual custom, Mrs. C. W. Barnes, wife of Postmaster Barnes, was hostess Friday evening to the postal employees at a pre-Christmas dinner given at the Woman's building.

The table for the dinner was arranged in a setting of Christmas decorations.

ANTIQUITY SALE

AT MARION HALL, ROSWELL, GA. 2 Days Only—Dec. 11th-12th, 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Part of the collection of the late NEIL REID, All kinds of lovely antiques will be on display for this sale. A collection of old ivory fans, patch boxes and shawl boxes, never shown before, and a great many other things.

MRS. JOHN W. REID,
Roswell, Ga.

The Hall-Mark of Prestige
Latham and Atkinson, Inc.
JEWELERS
In the Heart of the New Shopping District
185 Peachtree Street
Where the Big Clock Stands
Opposite Davison-Paxon's

Month's Trial
Helped Her

"I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was 14 years old to build me up. I had been frail and nervous. After taking three bottles I was in normal condition. Since then I occasionally have a run-down feeling which makes me weak, nervous and irritable. By taking two or three bottles of the Compound I am back to normal."—Mrs. Jerry C. Jarvis, R. F. D. No. 1, Palmer, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

AUGUST 3, 1914, GERMAN ADVANCE GUARDS CROSSED THE BELGIAN FRONTIER. THE SAME DAY ITALY ANNOUNCED HER NEUTRALITY. THROUGH A MEMBER OF THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA-HUNGARY, ITALY DECLARED THAT SHE WAS NOT BOUND TO AID HER ASSOCIATES IN A WAR IN WHICH THEY WERE THE AGGRESSORS.

THE NEXT DAY A CRIM HOST OF GRAY-CLAD GERMAN SOLDIERS BEGAN POURING OVER THE BORDER INTO BELGIUM. THE NEWS OF THIS UNPROVOKED INVASION OF A NEUTRAL COUNTRY ELECTRIFIED THE REST OF THE WORLD. GREAT BRITAIN, AROUSED TO ACTION, RESOLVED FINALLY TO CAST HER LOT WITH FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

The Story of the World War

—Germans Invade Belgium, England Enters the War

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ENGLAND, AS THE SWORN DEFENDER OF BELGIAN NEUTRALITY, SENT GERMANY AN URGENT DEMAND (AUG. 4), DEMANDING ASSURANCES BY MIDNIGHT THAT THE NEUTRALITY OF LITTLE BELGIUM WOULD BE RESPECTED. THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT IN REPLY DECLARED THAT ITS VIOLATION OF BELGIUM'S NEUTRALITY WAS A STERN MILITARY NECESSITY.

ENGLAND PROMPTLY DECLARED WAR. VON BETHMANN-HOLLWEG, THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR, CHAGRINED AT THE TURN OF EVENTS, SAID: "GREAT BRITAIN IS MAKING WAR JUST FOR A WORD—NEUTRALITY—JUST FOR A SCRAP OF PAPER." THE SAME DAY (AUG. 4) PRESIDENT WILSON PROCLAIMED THE NEUTRALITY OF THE UNITED STATES.

TOMORROW—THE GERMANS ATTACK LIEGE.

CUBAN PARTY PAUSES
AS MIAMI'S GUESTS

Plan To Leave Today for Key West To Take Boat
Home.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Members of the Cuban good-will tour party, 110 strong, paused in Miami tonight as guests of the city on the return trip to Havana from Atlanta. Departing from Miami tonight, they will arrive in Key West tomorrow to take a boat for Havana, arriving at the latter place tomorrow afternoon. The party is headed by Louis Machado, president of the Havana Rotary Club; Colonel Morales Conde, personal representative of President Machado of Cuba; Consul F. Guerra, representative of the Cuban department of state; and Fausto Simons, of the good-will tour commission. Included in the party were 40 cadets from the government military training school, maids of honor and sponsors for the Cuban Athletic and Havana Yacht clubs, heads of leading Havana social clubs and Havana newspapermen. The tour party was greeted at the railroad station by Domingo J. Milford, Cuban consul in Miami; Mayor C. H. Reeder and officials of the Cuban Club and Miami Civic Tourist Club. Banquet was tendered the visitors by the city and the two local clubs, after which they were taken for a drive through Miami and Miami Beach to various points of interest.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

REDDY GETS A TURKEY.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Forget the failures of the past:
Who fails at first may win at last.

Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy had spent the day much as they had the day before. They had slept in a snug hiding place near the farm where the turkeys were. From time to time between naps they had spied on those turkeys. By the middle of the afternoon they had slept all they wanted to. Then they crept to the edge of the woods and prepared to watch those turkeys until they should go to roost, or until they should have a chance to catch one. This time the turkeys did not come anywhere near where the foxes were hiding. They kept away from the woods. They did spend considerable time down in the open meadow, however.

"If only they would stay down there until after dark," sighed Reddy. "If only they would," sighed Mrs. Reddy in her turn.

But there was no chance of that and both Reddy and Mrs. Reddy knew it. "Our only chance," said Reddy, "will be to get one while they are going to roost in the apple tree. If that dog would go off somewhere we wouldn't have to bother about him. I hope that this time you will be able to lead him away."

Late in the afternoon the turkeys began to move up toward the apple tree where they were in the habit of roosting. Mrs. Reddy slipped away as soon as she saw the hound over in the barnyard. She wasted no time. She raced around the barn and right across in front of that dog before he realized what was happening. But as soon as he did realize that a fox had been impudent enough to come right up there in the barnyard, he was off after her with a great baying. All the turkeys stood still with their heads stretched up while they listened. That dog certainly did make a lot of noise. The farmer came to the barn door just in time to see Mrs. Reddy disappearing in the woods with the hound after her.

"Good old dog!" muttered the farmer. That fox must have been after a turkey. Well, there'll be nothing to fear from foxes tonight. It is a good thing I had the dog turned loose."

"If only they would stay down there until dark," sighed Reddy.

place. Another big bird spread her wings and flew up. And another. The fourth one never got the chance. Reddy darted out from his hiding place and seized this turkey by the neck. There was a moment or two of struggling. Some feathers flew this way and that. Then Reddy started off with the prize he had wanted for so long. That turkey was heavy. It was heavier than Reddy had realized it would be. He knew he couldn't carry it a very great distance. He was thankful that Mrs. Reddy had led that dog away. He was very thankful.

Meanwhile the other turkeys were gobbling with fright and the farmer came out of the barn to see what it was all about. He walked over to the tree where the turkeys roosted and right away he saw the feathers on the ground. He looked hastily in all directions. He couldn't see far because it was already dusk, and he looked mostly in the wrong direction, which was a good thing for Reddy. You see, Reddy was already finding out that he had not more than he had bargained for. That turkey would have to be left somewhere to be eaten later. It would have to be hidden near at hand.

The next story: "Reddy Goes to Mrs. Reddy's Help."

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A NEW DOLL OUTFIT.
4579. This is a very desirable model and one that will please the little "doll mother," for not only the garments but the doll as well may be made from this pattern here given. The doll may be of drill or unbleached muslin, and stuffed with flax, hair or cotton batting. The dress could be of gingham, cretonne, chambray, silk or crepe, and the cap, to match, or of lace or embroidery.

The pattern is cut in three sizes for dolls: 12, 16 and 20 inches in length. To make the doll in a 16-inch size requires 1-2 yard of 36-inch material. The dress and cap require 7-8 yard. The cap alone requires 1-4 yard.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12 cents in silver or stamps.

for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1929-1930 Book of Fashions.

Address orders to Beauty Fashion Department, care The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

FURNITURE CO. VAULT
BLOWN FOR $70 LOOT

Safe-blowers and burglars were active in Atlanta late Saturday night or early Sunday morning and several hundred dollars' worth of loot fell to their lot, according to police records.

The first robbery reported occurred in the small hours of Sunday morning when safe-blowers cracked the vault of the Estes Furniture Company, at 578 Decatur street, a few blocks from police headquarters. They made away with two pistols and about $70 in change, but overlooked $200 in currency which was in a separate compartment of the safe, inside an envelope. Detectives J. W. Whitley and L. D. Cody are investigating the case.

Burglars in two robberies, either late Saturday or early Sunday, broke windows and made away with several hundred dollars in loot.

A grocery store operated by J. H. Sutton at 70 Hunter street, S. E., was entered through a front window and $100 in cigars, cigarettes and tobacco taken.

Operating in the same way, burglars entered the Progressive Cleaners, an establishment owned and operated by I. Spielberger, and took clothing valued at more than $200. A front window which was broken attracted the attention of Patrolmen Jack Sartin and Wade Dodd at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning and led to the discovery of the robbery.

TRADE COMMISSION ASKS MORE POWER
IN LIGHT PROBE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Blocked in its investigation of electric power and gas utilities by the refusal of the Electric Bond and Share Company to produce its books, the federal trade commission turned to congress today with a request for specific delegation of its powers of subpoena in investigations aiding legislation.

In its annual report the commission recommended an amendment to its organic act which would give it equal force with the senate and house in compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of records and files. The power would extend only to investigations ordered by either house, the commission said, and would "remove much of the difficulty encountered in carrying on investigations."

HUNSMEN ASKED TO AID ABATEMENT OF FOREST FIRES

The state's annual heavy fire loss can be reduced only through co-operation by all classes of citizens of the state, according to the Georgia forest service, which urges special care on the part of hunters.

Many forest fires occur and great damage results each year, it was said, from carelessness of people in the woods. Fire not only destroys young trees, but it retards the growth of older timber by consuming plant food, officials of the service pointed out, and scars trees and lets rot and insects enter to do further damage.

Trees, however, were said not to be the only thing needing protection against forest fires, game suffering heavily from the evil. Quail, particularly, it was said, die by the thousands every year because someone carelessly threw down a burning match, a lighted cigarette or cigar butt or left campfires burning.

"GREATER ATLANTA"
COUNCIL MEMBERS TO GATHER TONIGHT

Members of the city council for Greater Atlanta will discuss plans for the functioning of the larger city governmental machine at 7 o'clock tonight when they assemble at the Atlanta Athletic Club as dinner guests of Mayor I. N. Ragdale.

Mayor Ragdale, who is to be the head of the Greater Atlanta government, is giving the dinner in order that all new officials may meet informally before beginning their official duties on January 1. No formal program has been planned, but there will be a number of short talks on the part of the guests.

Greater Atlanta, as incorporated last August, will unite the boroughs of Atlanta, East Point, College Park, Hapeville, Decatur and Avondale Estates.

Styles by ANNETTE Paris—New York

IT'S SO SMART!

Any little sub-deb would be thrilled to wear this new peplum frock with raised waistline and full flaring skirt, just like her older sister's new frock.

It can be worn to school, too, for it is a simple washable wool challis print, with crisp white pique collar and cuffs edged with Irish pique, with grosgrain ribbon tie at neckline. It is in flattering French blue background printed in bold rose tones. Style No. 110 can be made at an unbelievably small outlay. It is designed in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Another interesting choice, quite as effective, is navy blue wool crepe with collar and cuffs of white pique with vivid red bow tie.

Rayon printed crepe in capucine tones on dark brown ground with collar and cuffs of orange crepe is most attractive.

Bottle green cashmere jersey self-trimmed with huge bow tie of matching shade fails crepe printed in yellow polka-dots is unusual idea that is very serviceable.

Scarlet red crepe de chine, electric blue crepe silk, towed-like cotton in yellow-beige and brown tones, and nine green pique are smart combinations.

Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for pattern, you inclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our new Fashion Magazine.

Address orders to Annette Fashion Department, care The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

14 POULTRY SALES TO BE CONDUCTED
BY STATE BUREAU

The state bureau of markets, has announced that co-operative poultry sales will be held at 14 towns this week, with hog sales planned for two. The week's schedule of poultry sales follows:

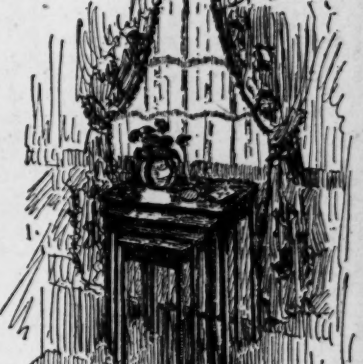

Monday, Augusta.
Tuesday, Harlem, Thomson and Franklin, N. C.
Wednesday, Crawfordville, Dillard and Otto, N. C.
Thursday, Bowman, Reidsville and Clayton.
Friday, Elberton, Collins and Clarksville.
Saturday, Comer and Claxton.
Hog sales will be held at Blakely Tuesday and Shellman Thursday.

GRAND VOITURE
OF LEGION ORDER
TO HOLD "WRECK"

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The grand voiture of the Georgia Forty and Eight, honorary order of the American Legion, will hold a "wreck" here in January, with the Albany grand ground printed in bold rose tones. Frank Haas, of Atlanta, past grand chef de gare of Georgia, outlined some of the work being done by the state voiture. Mr. Haas will assist in the degree work when the state meeting is held here.

J. A. PERRY SPEAKS
AT FRUIT DEALERS'
MEETING TONIGHT

The Atlanta Fruit Dealers' Association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Chamber of Commerce. Chairman James A. Perry, of the Georgia public service commission, will address the membership.

A Nest of Tables —for any number of things!

Those bandages for the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial Hospital!

How ever can they get tables enough in here to allow for passage . . . and yet room for work . . . and tea and toast later . . . how?

A nest of tables . . . several locked in the space of one . . . large enough for bandage rolling . . . comfortably spacious for the salad plate or tea cup!

Add a nest of tables—maple, mahogany, walnut—to your household comforts!

RICH'S LEADS IN Livable FURNITURE

Making up
a shopping list

THE hall needs a new rug. More towels are needed for the bathroom, and the kitchen floor could certainly stand a coat of paint. The children need shoes. The car will soon need tires. Well, we buy a hundred new things every year.

Scattered throughout the United States are manufacturers who make the very things we need. Their products are on sale in certain stores within easy reach. Certain of these products, and certain of these stores, are especially fitted to take care of our special need. But which products and which stores? Which can we afford, and which do we think is best? We must look to advertising for advice.

Advertising is the straight line between supply and demand. It saves time spent in haphazard shopping. It leads you directly to your goal. By reading the advertisements, we can determine in advance where the best values are to be found. With the aid of advertising, shopping becomes a simple and pleasant business, and budget figures bring more smiles than frowns.

From the pages of The Constitution you can make up a shopping list that will save you money.

Latham &
Atkinson, Inc.

The Hall Mark of Prestige

Sterling Silver Center Pieces
Candlesticks to Match

Nothing else will do . . . if you want a table that is beyond question correct and elegant in its appointment.

And the beauty of it is . . . they last, from generation to generation, and never go out of style . . . when you buy good sterling.

We have a wonderful assortment.

Here are a few suggestions:

Large Louis XIV Centerpiece and Plateau . . . $125

Double Candlesticks to Match . . . $125 a pair

Maintenon Centerpiece . . . $160

Candlesticks, exceedingly heavy and very finely chased . . . $350 a pair

Many others . . . Centerpieces, $25 up; Candlesticks, $5 up.

185 Peachtree Street

Where the Big Clock Stands

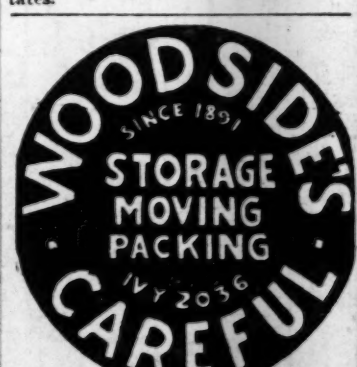

Opposite Davison-Paxon's

Jewelers

Founded 1876

Re-Incorporated 1899

In the Heart of the New Shopping District

THE GUMPS—HOLDING UP HER END

Custom Built

By SIDNEY HERSCHEL SMALL

INSTALLMENT I.

AN UNPLEASANT AWAKENING.

The pineapple ornamented chiffonier painted gray, was the first object which Kellogg saw, and he closed his eyes immediately, as if the sight were not at all pleasant. He sat slightly up, swung long legs from under the lumpy covers, and went to the heap of clothes on the scuffed leatherette chair.

Here he found cigar and matches.

Kellogg, sitting gravely on the mattress—the sheet had been rumpled back and feathers protruded as from a moulting goose—did not seem to be long in the somber room; he looked about him as if seeing it for the first time. A train hampered past, and the gray lace curtains at it, put a hand to his head as if it ached, and then slipped from the bed again and pulled down the shade.

His watch, on the chiffonier, told him that it was almost 10; he was putting it down when the door rattled.
John Andrew said, automatically,
"Yes," and glanced about quickly for his bag; he did not see it, nor the dressing gown he wanted; he sighed a second time and stood gazing uncertainly at the door.

It opened before John Andrew could decide to get back into the bed. He was vaguely glad that he had pulled down the shade.

"No job?" Kellogg heard.

She was, he saw, a very large woman. It would never do to argue with her. He did not feel like arguing with any one; the proper thing to do was to get back into bed and close his eyes again.

"How 'bout it, mister?"

Kellogg, backing toward the bed, flushed as the words hit him. He suddenly grinned, and his angular face became almost handsome. "It wouldn't be a good bet," he said. "Unless... tell me, please, is this New York?"

The woman stared at him.

"Where'd you think it was?" she demanded.

"I hoped that it was Utica. It isn't.

I probably haven't."

"Haven't what?"

John Andrew said gravely, "A job."

The woman's roving eyes checked off every object in the room and ended on John Andrew's scarlet and lilac silk pajamas. Before she could speak he said placidly, "I rather wondered where my bag was, too. Did I, by any chance, leave it downstairs?"

"Your friend took it with him," the landlady informed him.

"I was afraid he had."

So many emotions chased across the landlady's face that John Andrew began to laugh. As if the sound released a stopper, the woman began to talk rapidly, cracked a fine game they'd worked on her, and to think she'd fallen for it! Mr. Jennings telling her that his friend had taken the room, and that he—Mr. Jennings —had left the last two weeks' rent with his friend and that his friend would in the future pay in advance because he had a steady job... and she'd fallen for it. And let Mr. Jennings get away with a good suitcase
... "I suppose you don't intend to stay here at all."

John Andrew stifled a "Heaven forbid!" and said only, "No."

"I can rent it easy enough."

Well, let's have what Jennings left."

"We'll see what that is," Kellogg agreed. Blanket draped across his shoulders, with as much dignity as he could summon, he strode to the pile of clothes on the chair. Even here he searched he knew what was there—a handkerchief, a key ring, a check book, a box of cigars...

Now that he thought about it soberly, Jennings hadn't been much in college anyhow; he wondered why he'd gone out with him last night. But Jennings had seemed so down in his luck that it was pleasant to take the fellow around a bit, for a decent meal
and a drink or two, always remembering that he himself must catch the midnight train for Utica. He believed now that Jennings had been telling a story when it was time to rush for
the Grand Central, and that later
Jennings had said something about
there being another train at four in the morning... and then said something also involving an hour's sleep
to set him right before he boarded
the train...

No, Jennings certainly wasn't a very good sort. John Andrew wished that he had merely given Jennings
what might be called a loan and let it go at that.

"I suppose you wouldn't take a check?" John Andrew asked sadly.

"You suppose right, mister. I wouldn't." She was near the chiffonier now, and added, "And don't try leaving your watch."

John Andrew stared at the land-
lady and then said, "I'll get dressed,
and then if you will allow me to use
your telephone—"

"Which is right next to the front door? It—mm. You can use it, mister, but you can't use your clothes right
here and telephone the way you are.
Not that I expect any good to come of
it." She reached into her apron pocket and drew out a nickel. "Make the most of it," she said. "It's all
yours."

John Andrew grinned at the land-
lady and she smiled half sourly back.
Just as he felt a trifle more cheerful
she said, as if she had been thinking
it all the time, "I've read about you society flimflammers, but I never saw one of you before, nor pajamas like
that, neither."

The blanket tighter than ever about him, John Andrew paraded down the corridor, down two flights of narrow stairs and to the telephone.

He paused before taking the receptor from the hook and looked grimly
at the coin in his hand. There were a dozen fellows who would come with the money at once, but he could not be positive any of them would be in to answer his call. He must not call the Asiatic-Import; he was in trouble enough with his chief, Saunders,

as it was, and especially so when Saunders found out that he was still in New York. That was out. There was Barbara, of course, who might be at home, but he sighed again as he thought of making explanations,
and she was probably out anyhow.
There was no other positive thing to do; he dropped the coin and gave the number, much as if exposing his chest to a knife.

"Mr. Craig," he said. "Mr. Kellogg." He waited. At last, "Hello,
Mr. Craig. This is John Andrew.
No, I'm not in Utica... it's quite a story; too long to tell now, and
... what? no; I haven't told them
at office yet. I will... what?
... yes, I'm going there just as soon
as... I can't, right this minute, because striped pajamas are only done
at European bathing beaches on if you
sir, I'm not drunk... that... what
I'm trying to tell you, sir; please send some one down here with a hundred... O, just in hock for room
rent... wait a minute..."

To the landlady: "Where am I?"

And, after Craig, "I took this one right between the eyes." John Andrew said. "It happened like this, if you must know... what?"

There was now a long silence; John Andrew did nothing save listen, until he said levelly, "I see, sir, I'll come in as soon as I can. Good-by."

"What'd he say?"

John Andrew told her wearily, one hand to his head, "Very much, indeed."

"Changed his mind about sending you the money, didn't he?"

"I almost wish he had. No; it'll be here in 10 or 15 minutes. He was
... just getting value received for it.
Now I'll get some clothes on if you think it's safe to let me. I promise
not to climb out of the window."

He turned and then pulled the blanket as high as he could, unaware of exposing his brilliantly clad legs
the more.

He had not heard any one come down the stairs. His face was as red as the stripes of his pajamas, although he tried valiantly to appear serene.

Even his first terrified glance told him that she was a very pretty girl.

"Good morning," John Andrew said.

Why on earth had he said that,
or anything? What difference did it make that a girl—even a pretty girl
—had slipped up on him to stand looking at him as if he were one of the apes in the zoo? In a few minutes more he'd be out of this confounded boarding house, and...

"Good morning!" the girl said frosti-
ly. "Is the telephone free?"

"All you need," John Andrew informed her earnestly, "is a nickel.
And the lady here will gladly lend
you one, as she did me—"

"So I heard," the girl said.

John Andrew tried to glare at her.
She was dressed all in dark blue—grateful to his eyes—with a tight little hat which was blue. Her eyes were at once cool and excited and shone frankly; John Andrew supposed that it was his obvious happiness
he realized that it assuredly did not concern him—which had made his speak.

"You shouldn't judge by first appearances," John Andrew said seriously.

"I know you're the Prince of Wales," the girl snapped. "Nobody else would dare wear such... such
book, a box of cigars..."

Now that he thought about it sober-
ly, Jennings hadn't been much in college anyhow; he wondered why he'd gone out with him last night. But Jennings had seemed so down in his luck that it was pleasant to take the
fellow around a bit, for a decent meal
and a drink or two, always remembering
that he himself must catch the midnight train for Utica. He believed
now that Jennings had been telling a story when it was time to rush for
the Grand Central, and that later
Jennings had said something about
there being another train at four in
the morning... and then said something also involving an hour's sleep
to set him right before he boarded
the train...

No, Jennings certainly wasn't a very good sort. John Andrew wished that he had merely given Jennings
what might be called a loan and let
it go at that.

"I suppose you wouldn't take a check?" John Andrew asked sadly.

"You suppose right, mister. I wouldn't." She was near the chiffonier now, and added, "And don't
try leaving your watch."

John Andrew stared at the land-
lady and then said, "I'll get dressed,
and then if you will allow me to use
your telephone—"

"Which is right next to the front door? It—mm. You can use it, mister, but you can't use your clothes right
here and telephone the way you are.
Not that I expect any good to come of
it." She reached into her apron
pocket and drew out a nickel. "Make
the most of it," she said. "It's all
yours."

John Andrew grinned at the land-
lady and she smiled half sourly back.
Just as he felt a trifle more cheerful
she said, as if she had been thinking
it all the time, "I've read about you
society flimflammers, but I never saw
one of you before, nor pajamas like
that, neither."

The blanket tighter than ever about
him, John Andrew paraded down the corridor, down two flights of narrow
stairs and to the telephone.

He paused before taking the receptor from the hook and looked grimly
at the coin in his hand. There were a dozen fellows who would come with
the money at once, but he could not
be positive any of them would be in

to answer his call. He must not call
the Asiatic-Import; he was in trouble enough with his chief, Saunders,
as it was, and especially so when
Saunders found out that he was still
in New York. That was out. There
was Barbara, of course, who might
be at home, but he sighed again as
he thought of making explanations,
and she was probably out anyhow.
There was no other positive thing
to do; he dropped the coin and gave
the number, much as if exposing his
chest to a knife.

"Mr. Craig," he said. "Mr. Kellogg." He waited. At last, "Hello,
Mr. Craig. This is John Andrew.
No, I'm not in Utica... it's quite
a story; too long to tell now, and
... what? no; I haven't told them
at office yet. I will... what?
... yes, I'm going there just as soon
as... I can't, right this minute,
because striped pajamas are only done
at European bathing beaches on if you
sir, I'm not drunk... that... what
I'm trying to tell you, sir; please
send some one down here with a hundred... O, just in hock for room
rent... wait a minute..."

To the landlady: "Where am I?"

And, after Craig, "I took this one
right between the eyes." John Andrew said. "It happened like this, if you
must know... what?"

There was now a long silence; John Andrew did nothing save listen, until
he said levelly, "I see, sir, I'll come in as soon as I can. Good-by."

"What'd he say?"

John Andrew told her wearily, one
hand to his head, "Very much, indeed."

"Changed his mind about sending
you the money, didn't he?"

"I almost wish he had. No; it'll be here in 10 or 15 minutes. He was
... just getting value received for it.
Now I'll get some clothes on if you
think it's safe to let me. I promise
not to climb out of the window."

He turned and then pulled the
blanket as high as he could, unaware of exposing his brilliantly clad legs
the more.

He had not heard any one come down the stairs. His face was as
red as the stripes of his pajamas, although he tried valiantly to appear serene.

Even his first terrified glance told him that she was a very pretty girl.

"Good morning," John Andrew said.

Why on earth had he said that,
or anything? What difference did it
make that a girl—even a pretty girl
—had slipped up on him to stand looking at him as if he were one of the apes in the zoo? In a few minutes more he'd be out of this confounded boarding house, and...

"Good morning!" the girl said frosti-
ly. "Is the telephone free?"

"All you need," John Andrew informed her earnestly, "is a nickel.
And the lady here will gladly lend
you one, as she did me—"

"So I heard," the girl said.

John Andrew tried to glare at her.
She was dressed all in dark blue—
grateful to his eyes—with a tight little hat which was blue. Her eyes were at once cool and excited and shone frankly; John Andrew supposed
that it was his obvious happiness
he realized that it assuredly did not concern him—which had made his
speak.

"You shouldn't judge by first appearances," John Andrew said seriously.

"I know you're the Prince of Wales," the girl snapped. "Nobody
else would dare wear such... such
book, a box of cigars..."

Now that he thought about it sober-
ly, Jennings hadn't been much in college anyhow; he wondered why he'd gone out with him last night. But Jennings had seemed so down in his luck that it was pleasant to take the
fellow around a bit, for a decent meal
and a drink or two, always remembering
that he himself must catch the midnight train for Utica. He believed
now that Jennings had been telling a story when it was time to rush for
the Grand Central, and that later
Jennings had said something about
there being another train at four in the morning... and then said something also involving an hour's sleep
to set him right before he boarded
the train...

No, Jennings certainly wasn't a very good sort. John Andrew wished that he had merely given Jennings
what might be called a loan and let
it go at that.

"I suppose you wouldn't take a check?" John Andrew asked sadly.

"You suppose right, mister. I wouldn't." She was near the chiffonier now, and added, "And don't
try leaving your watch."

John Andrew stared at the land-
lady and then said, "I'll get dressed,
and then if you will allow me to use
your telephone—"

"Which is right next to the front door? It—mm. You can use it, mister, but you can't use your clothes right
here and telephone the way you are.
Not that I expect any good to come of
it." She reached into her apron
pocket and drew out a nickel. "Make
the most of it," she said. "It's all
yours."

John Andrew grinned at the land-
lady and she smiled half sourly back.
Just as he felt a trifle more cheerful
she said, as if she had been thinking
it all the time, "I've read about you
society flimflammers, but I never saw
one of you before, nor pajamas like
that, neither."

The blanket tighter than ever about
him, John Andrew paraded down the corridor, down two flights of narrow
stairs and to the telephone.

He paused before taking the receptor from the hook and looked grimly
at the coin in his hand. There were a dozen fellows who would come with
the money at once, but he could not
be positive any of them would be in

to answer his call. He must not call
the Asiatic-Import; he was in trouble enough with his chief, Saunders,
as it was, and especially so when Saunders found out that he was still
in New York. That was out. There was Barbara, of course, who might
be at home, but he sighed again as
he thought of making explanations,
and she was probably out anyhow.
There was no other positive thing
to do; he dropped the coin and gave
the number, much as if exposing his
chest to a knife.

"Mr. Craig," he said. "Mr. Kellogg." He waited. At last, "Hello,
Mr. Craig. This is John Andrew.
No, I'm not in Utica... it's quite
a story; too long to tell now, and
... what? no; I haven't told them
at office yet. I will... what?
... yes, I'm going there just as soon
as... I can't, right this minute,
because striped pajamas are only done
at European bathing beaches on if you
sir, I'm not drunk... that... what
I'm trying to tell you, sir; please
send some one down here with a hundred... O, just in hock for room
rent... wait a minute..."

To the landlady: "Where am I?"

And, after Craig, "I took this one right between the eyes." John Andrew said. "It happened like this, if you
must know... what?"

There was now a long silence; John Andrew did nothing save listen, until
he said levelly, "I see, sir, I'll come in as soon as I can. Good-by."

"What'd he say?"

John Andrew told her wearily, one hand to his head, "Very much, indeed."

"Changed his mind about sending
you the money, didn't he?"

"I almost wish he had. No; it'll be here in 10 or 15 minutes. He was
... just getting value received for it.
Now I'll get some clothes on if you
think it's safe to let me. I promise
not to climb out of the window."

He turned and then pulled the
blanket as high as he could, unaware of exposing his brilliantly clad legs
the more.

He had not heard any one come down the stairs. His face was as
red as the stripes of his pajamas, although he tried valiantly to appear serene.

Even his first terrified glance told him that she was a very pretty girl.

"Good morning," John Andrew said.

Why on earth had he said that,
or anything? What difference did it
make that a girl—even a pretty girl
—had slipped up on him to stand looking at him as if he were one of the apes in the zoo? In a few minutes more he'd be out of this confounded boarding house, and...

"Good morning!" the girl said frosti-
ly. "Is the telephone free?"

"All you need," John Andrew informed her earnestly, "is a nickel.
And the lady here will gladly lend
you one, as she did me—"

"So I heard," the girl said.

John Andrew tried to glare at her.
She was dressed all in dark blue—
grateful to his eyes—with a tight little hat which was blue. Her eyes were at once cool and excited and shone frankly; John Andrew supposed
that it was his obvious happiness
he realized that it assuredly did not concern him—which had made his
speak.

"You shouldn't judge by first appearances," John Andrew said seriously.

"I know you're the Prince of Wales," the girl snapped. "Nobody else would dare wear such... such
book, a box of cigars..."

Now that he thought about it sober-
ly, Jennings hadn't been much in college anyhow; he wondered why he'd gone out with him last night. But Jennings had seemed so down in his luck that it was pleasant to take the
fellow around a bit, for a decent meal
and a drink or two, always remembering
that he himself must catch the midnight train for Utica. He believed
now that Jennings had been telling a story when it was time to rush for
the Grand Central, and that later
Jennings had said something about
there being another train at four in the morning... and then said something also involving an hour's sleep
to set him right before he boarded
the train...

No, Jennings certainly wasn't a very good sort. John Andrew wished that he had merely given Jennings
what might be called a loan and let
it go at that.

"I suppose you wouldn't take a check?" John Andrew asked sadly.

"You suppose right, mister. I wouldn't." She was near the chiffonier now, and added, "And don't
try leaving your watch."

John Andrew stared at the land-
lady and then said, "I'll get dressed,
and then if you will allow me to use
your telephone—"

"Which is right next to the front door? It—mm. You can use it, mister, but you can't use your clothes right
here and telephone the way you are.
Not that I expect any good to come of
it." She reached into her apron
pocket and drew out a nickel. "Make
the most of it," she said. "It's all
yours."

John Andrew grinned at the land-
lady and she smiled half sourly back.
Just as he felt a trifle more cheerful
she said, as if she had been thinking
it all the time, "I've read about you
society flimflammers, but I never saw
one of you before, nor pajamas like
that, neither."

The blanket tighter than ever about
him, John Andrew paraded down the corridor, down two flights of narrow
stairs and to the telephone.

He paused before taking the receptor from the hook and looked grimly
at the coin in his hand. There were a dozen fellows who would come with
the money at once, but he could not
be positive any of them would be in

to answer his call. He must not call
the Asiatic-Import; he was in trouble enough with his chief, Saunders,
as it was, and especially so when Saunders found out that he was still
in New York. That was out. There was Barbara, of course, who might
be at home, but he sighed again as
he thought of making explanations,
and she was probably out anyhow.
There was no other positive thing
to do; he dropped the coin and gave
the number, much as if exposing his
chest to a knife.

"Mr. Craig," he said. "Mr. Kellogg." He waited. At last, "Hello,
Mr. Craig. This is John Andrew.
No, I'm not in Utica... it's quite
a story; too long to tell now, and
... what? no; I haven't told them
at office yet. I will... what?
... yes, I'm going there just as soon
as... I can't, right this minute,
because striped pajamas are only done
at European bathing beaches on if you
sir, I'm not drunk... that... what
I'm trying to tell you, sir; please
send some one down here with a hundred... O, just in hock for room
rent... wait a minute..."

To the landlady: "Where am I?"

And, after Craig, "I took this one right between the eyes." John Andrew said. "It happened like this, if you
must know... what?"

There was now a long silence; John Andrew did nothing save listen, until
he said levelly, "I see, sir, I'll come in as soon as I can. Good-by."

"What'd he say?"

John Andrew told her wearily, one hand to his head, "Very much, indeed."

"Changed his mind about sending
you the money, didn't he?"

"I almost wish he had. No; it'll be here in 10 or 15 minutes. He was
... just getting value received for it.
Now I'll get some clothes on if you
think it's safe to let me. I promise
not to climb out of the window."

He turned and then pulled the
blanket as high as he could, unaware of exposing his brilliantly clad legs
the more.

He had not heard any one come down the stairs. His face was as
red as the stripes of his pajamas, although he tried valiantly to appear serene.

Even his first terrified glance told him that she was a very pretty girl.

"Good morning," John Andrew said.

Why on earth had he said that,
or anything? What difference did it
make that a girl—even a pretty girl
—had slipped up on him to stand looking at him as if he were one of the apes in the zoo? In a few minutes more he'd be out of this confounded boarding house, and...

"Good morning!" the girl said frosti-
ly. "Is the telephone free?"

"All you need," John Andrew informed her earnestly, "is a nickel.
And the lady here will gladly lend
you one, as she did me—"

"So I heard," the girl said.

John Andrew tried to glare at her.
She was dressed all in dark blue—
grateful to his eyes—with a tight little hat which was blue. Her eyes were at once cool and excited and shone frankly; John Andrew supposed
that it was his obvious happiness
he realized that it assuredly did not concern him—which had made his
speak.

"You shouldn't judge by first appearances," John Andrew said seriously.

"I know you're the Prince of Wales," the girl snapped. "Nobody else would dare wear such... such
book, a box of cigars..."

Now that he thought about it sober-
ly, Jennings hadn't been much in college anyhow; he wondered why he'd gone out with him last night. But Jennings had seemed so down in his luck that it was pleasant to

Season of Thrills and Upsets Ends in Southern Conference

THOMASON TO PLAY IN ALL-STAR GAME

TOPSY-TURVY SEASON CLOSES IN CONFERENCE

Tech and Georgia End Season of Dixie in Rain at Athens.

By Eddie Brietz.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

The most exciting gridiron campaign in the brief history of the Southern conference is ended and nothing remains for the football hungry but the charity game between picked teams from the northern and southern ends of the conference here New Year's Day.

While Tulane tucked the title safely away 10 days ago, interest remained at a high pitch right on down to the finish with the intersectional game between Florida and Oregon and the annual duel between Georgia and Georgia Tech headlining the final day's program.

SOUTH 3 UP.
The south went three up on the Pacific coast in the intersectional warfare when Florida handily won from Coach John J. McEwen's big Webfoot eleven, 20 to 6.

The rainy Florida temperatures so bothered the westerners that most of them played the last half minus their jerseys. Towards the end of the afternoon a cooling breeze came in from the ocean and made it possible for the visitors to perk up long enough to push over a touchdown and stave off a shutout.

While all this was going on, 20,000 people huddled in the rain at Athens to see Georgia's Bulldogs double the score on Georgia Tech and win by a 12-6 count.

Tech fought hard all the way through, but what was left of the 1928 juggernaut was not able to muster enough punch to turn back the rolling sophomores of Coach Harry McPherson.

North Carolina won its seventh conference game by routing Duke's Blue Devils, 48-7, in the feature game of the northern end of the conference.

GAMECOCKS SWAMPED.
The fleet backs of the Tarheels ran wild to roll up 48 points, making their total for the season 346, which makes them high scorers for the south this season.

Hackman and McEver scampered hither and yon to give Tennessee a crushing 54-0 triumph over the game but badly outclassed Gamecocks of the University of South Carolina.

Between them the touchdown twins scored eight touchdowns, McEver registering five and Hackman three. McEver added 33 points to his season's total, which gives him the national lead.

Maryland was the only other conference team scheduled to play. The old rival, Western Maryland, which finished the season without a defeat, in the one Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association contest, the Louisiana Poly won its first game of the season by defeating Southwestern Louisiana 24-7.

Century nosed out Loyola, of New Orleans, 4-0, and William and Mary won from Hampden-Sydney, 20-6, in the remaining games.

Final standings of Southern conference football teams, together with points scored by and against each, follow:

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts. For	Pts. Against
------	----	----	----	----------	--------------

Tulane	6	0	0	1,000	279
--------	---	---	---	-------	-----

Tennessee	6	0	0	1,000	330
-----------	---	---	---	-------	-----

N. Carolina	7	1	0	875	346
-------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Florida	6	1	0	837	198
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Vanderbilt	5	1	0	833	187
------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Kentucky	3	1	1	750	237
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

V. M. I.	4	2	0	667	156
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Duke	4	2	0	667	156
------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Georgia	4	2	0	667	156
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

I. A. State	3	2	0	600	247
-------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Alabama	4	3	0	571	109
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Clemson	3	3	0	567	109
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

V. P. I.	3	3	0	400	169
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Ga. Tech	3	3	0	375	105
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

S. Carolina	2	5	0	286	164
-------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Virginia	1	3	2	129	138
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Maryland	1	3	2	120	148
----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

W. & L.	1	4	1	200	147
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Miss. A. M.	0	4	1	000	51
-------------	---	---	---	-----	----

Sewanee	0	4	1	000	113
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Mississippi	0	4	1	000	23
-------------	---	---	---	-----	----

N. C. State	0	5	0	000	28
-------------	---	---	---	-----	----

Auburn	0	7	0	000	27
--------	---	---	---	-----	----

	0	7	0	000	27
--	---	---	---	-----	----

It looks like a quiet winter. All the experts called the Georgia game correctly in advance, and there is no excuse for I-told-you-so articles.

But their analytical forecasts of HOW it would happen that Georgia would defeat Tech, all were 100 per cent wrong and nary a word is left for them to say.

None imagined that the second-string Bulldog backfield would march to a touchdown after receiving the kick-off.

None envisioned the Tech rush line outchugging and outmaneuvering the Georgia forwards.

Few among Georgia camp followers imagined the youngsters could put up such a wire-mesh defense against forward passes and tackle with such certainty.

Blocked punts never were considered as probable factors in the scoring.

Nobody believed that "Stumpy" Thomason really had been injured a few days before the fray.

None suspected that the heroes of the game would include Fats Bryant, Benny Rothstein, Coot Watkins and Jim Brooke.

All these charges of faulty forecasting apply equally to the army of experts in general, this column in particular and the weather man especially.

TECH'S LINE ARRIVES.
It must have been highly gratifying to Bill Fincher to see his linemen finally hit their stride.

Vance Maree, of whom much was expected, played right up to expectations and showed what may be delivered by him next season with a full year in his favorite position. Hudson Edwards showed his work against Alabama was no flash in the pan; he is a coming guard.

Ezell had his baptism of fire at center and will improve next season. Rusk and Westbrook and Watkins made their exits from the gridiron impressively. Jones and Brooke played well nigh flawless. Williams and Sloane did well in sharing an end post.

The whole Jacket rush line shifted with the Notre Dame backfield maneuvers in front of them like a well-drilled company of dancers and charged as one man.

GREAT TACKLING.
The young Bulldogs tackled brilliantly in the secondary defense. I believe their work as a whole was even more spectacular than that of the Vanderbilt secondary when the Crimson Tide was held scoreless early in November.

Mixell and Thomason were driving through the line of scrimmage right along behind the smart, powerful charging of their own line. But right there the Tech backs were met by thunderbolts in the persons of Chandler, Waugh, Dickens, Roberts or Rothstein. And they made very few long runs.

Roberts had been considered not so proficient in defensive play and it was with some misgivings that his coaches started him. But his great work Saturday showed the effects of good coaching and his own determination.

TWO COMPLAINTS.
The only complaints about the game centered on the weather and the officiating. The rain held off just long enough to encourage visitors to leave their umbrellas, raincoats and what-not in the trains.

Then it came down in torrents. In no time fur neckpieces looked like drowned rats, flimsy shoes were wrecked and expensive hats utterly ruined. The financial loss in wearing apparel actually amounted to a fortune.

From all sides yesterday one heard fans of both Tech and Georgia camps complaining about the officiating. The officials were too officious, they said. They completely dominated the game and crowded the boys off the stage.

I had thought the officials were penalizing vigorously to keep the game from getting away from them, but I find I am in the minority, if not unique, in viewpoint.

HARMONY REIGNS.
Otherwise one hears nothing but praise for Georgia and praise for Tech and praise for Athens. Again the crowd was moved in and out smoothly by the railroads.

The weather naturally slowed down return motor traffic to a walk but that was just too bad.

Georgia was expected to win the game and did; Tech played better than at any time this season; and the score was close enough to satisfy any non-partisan.

EVEN WEATHER IS PRAISED.
Why, I even heard a kind word for the rain. One old-time alumnus of Georgia who has seen them all come and go said the rain was a blessing.

"Did you notice there was not a fight in the stands?" he remarked. "And that as soon as the game was over, everybody started for home as fast as they could?" There may be something in what he said. Certainly the renewal of the old gridiron fixture was a most harmonious one with never a cloud except in the sky.

LET'S INVITE IOWA.
And by way of addendum and advice before the meeting of the Southern conference in Baton Rouge this week-end: Iowa has been fired from the Western conference. Why not admit Iowa to the Southern conference? Every institution east of the Rockies already belongs except Iowa and it would be a graceful act of southern hospitality.

RING PROGRAM FOR THIS WEEK FULL OF ACTION

Art Shires Makes Debut Tonight; Porat Meets Scott at Garden.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Ousted from Madison Square Garden by the pedal-pushers of the six-day bicycle race some time last week, representatives of the cauliflower industry return in force this week with two boxing carnivals.

The first one—tomorrow night—finds Phil Scott, the fighting fireman from London, battling Otto Von Porat, heavy punching Norwegian, heavy weights, in a 12-round bout for sweet charity's sake, and, incidentally, for the possible chance of meeting Jack Sharkey at Miami in February. On Friday night Ruby Goldstein, apparently back in the form that made him a formidable contender for the lightweight championship a few years ago, will take on Jimmy McLarnin, of San Francisco, who punches just about as hard as Goldstein ever did.

LOOMS IMPORTANT.
The Scott-Von Porat struggle looms as one of the most important of the winter season, and officials of the Christmas fund show have added an additional lure for boxing fans by announcing that the referee will be William Harrison Dempsey—Jack Dempsey—for fistie purposes.

Because of his tremendous punching power, Von Porat has been established a slight favorite over Scott, but there is plenty of English money that says Scott will outbox and outspeed the big Norwegian and gallop away with the decision.

Maxie Rosenbloom, whose clownish tendencies in the ring have nothing to do with his capabilities as a boxer and fighter, meets Julius (Yale) Okun, another New York light-heavyweight, in the 12-round semi-final. George Hoffman, of New York, erstwhile national amateur heavyweight champion, takes on Marty Gallagher, of Washington, in a 10-rounder. Two four-rounders complete the card.

Despite its two big shows and several smaller ones, New York will have to share a portion of the spotlight with Chicago, Boston, Cleveland and Detroit.

SHIRES IN DEBUT.
In the White City arena at Chicago tomorrow night Arthur (The Great) Shires, pugacious Chicago White Sox first baseman, will make his fistie debut in a four-round bout with Dan Daley, of Cleveland. On Friday night at the Chicago stadium Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, meets Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, in a 12-round bout at 10 rounds. In the 10-round semi-final Hein Mueller, latest German heavyweight importation, takes on Elmer Riaux, of Canada, in his second appearance in an American ring.

The Boston garden's weekly show on Friday night will be featured by the appearance of Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, in a non-title fight with Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, negro.

An all-heavyweight card is the attraction at Cleveland tomorrow night with Johnny Risko, Cleveland, paired with Ernie Schaaf, of Boston; Al Warren, North Carolina, with Tony Kirby, Boston, and Emmett Rocco, Elwood City, Pa., with Moose Boquillon, France.

George Courtney, of Oklahoma, and Lou Scanzano, Buffalo, two leading light-heavyweight contenders, are the principals in Detroit's show Friday night.

Other bouts on the national schedule include:

MONDAY NIGHT.
At New York, Madison Square Garden, Paul Bianchi, Argentina, vs. Jerry Pavled, New York, and Bill Daring, New York, vs. Eddie Steele, England, each four rounds; at Louisville, Jackie Cohen, New York, vs. Jackie Dugan, Louisville, featherweights, 10 rounds; at Wichita, Kan., Joe Merhar, Chicago, vs. Babe Hunt, Ponca City, Okla., heavyweights, 10 rounds; at Pittsburgh, Farmer Joe Cooper, Terre Haute, Ind., vs. Joe Belmont, Pittsburgh, welterweights, 10 rounds.

TUESDAY.
At Los Angeles, Goldie Hess, Ocean Park, vs. Cecil Payne, Louisville, featherweights, 10 rounds; at New York, Lenox S. C., Kili Chocolate, Cuba, vs. Billy Silverberg, Brooklyn, featherweights, 10 rounds.

WEDNESDAY.
At New York Coliseum, Harry Willis, negro, vs. Andrea Castano, Mexico, and Blackie and Bill, Cuba, vs. Freddie Lattanzio, flyweights, each 10 rounds.

FRIDAY.
At Hollywood, Eddie Murdock, Oklahoma, vs. Cowboy Cobb, Los Angeles, featherweights, 10 rounds; at Charlotte, N. C., Farmer Joe Cooper, Terre Haute, Ind., vs. Jack Britton, flyweights, 10 rounds.

Green Bay Wins Pro Grid Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers won the national professional football championship today by defeating the Chicago Bears, 25 to 0, in their final game of the season. The victory gave the Packers a season record of 12 wins, one tie and no defeats.

Following is the standing of clubs in the National football league, including today's games:

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pts. For	Pts. Against
------	----	----	----	----------	--------------

Green Bay	12	0	0	1,000	280
-----------	----	---	---	-------	-----

San Francisco	10	4	0	800	350
---------------	----	---	---	-----	-----

Frankford	9	4	1	600	350
-----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Cardinals	8	4	1	500	350
-----------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Stanton	8	4	0	400	350
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Grange	8	4	0	300	350
--------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Providence	4	6	2	200	350
------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Chicago Bears	4	7	1	100	350
---------------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Buffalo	3	7	2	100	350
---------	---	---	---	-----	-----

Minneapolis	1	9	0	0	350
-------------	---	---	---	---	-----

Dayton	1	9	0	0	350
--------	---	---	---	---	-----

	1	9	0	0	350
--	---	---	---	---	-----

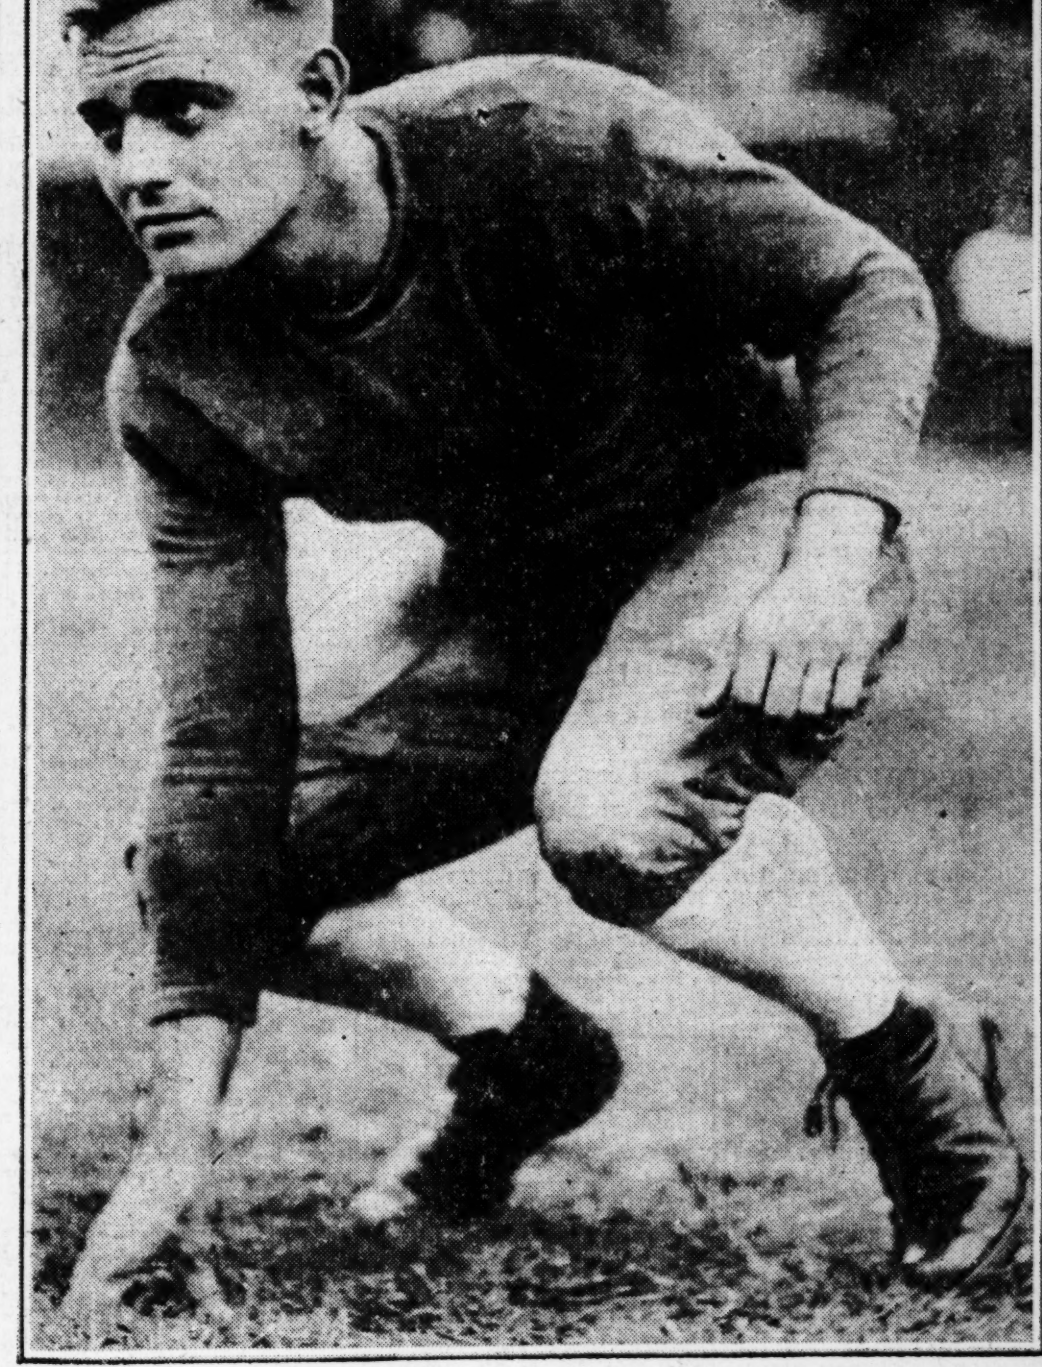

Green Bay 25; Chicago Bears 0.
--------------------------------	--	--	--	--	--

Cardinals 22; Grange 7.
-------------------------	--	--	--	--	--

New York 21; Frankford 6.
---------------------------	--	--	--	--	--

New York 12; Frankford 6 (played Saturday).
---	--	--	--	--	--

He Scored for Tech

Jim Brooke, Georgia Tech guard, scored Tech's touchdown against Georgia last Saturday at Athens. Brooke broke through and fell on the ball after Tom Jones had blocked Spurgeon Chandler's kick. The touchdown gave Tech a temporary tie with Georgia which was broken in the fourth quarter when Fats Bryant, Georgia tackle, blocked a Tech kick, recovered it and ran for a touchdown.

GOODRICH, HULL TO FIGHT AGAIN

Legion Rematches Two Scrappers for Its Second Card December 17.

Ted Goodrich and Clyde Hull will meet in a 10-round bout at the City Auditorium Tuesday night, December 17, it was announced by the Atlanta post of the American Legion, sponsor of the card.

This will mark the Legion's second stab at reviving interest in the somewhat dead fight game in Atlanta, and if this main event goes off like the last two it will go far toward doing just that.

These boys have put up two hectic battles, one being declared a draw and the other was given to Goodrich by the decision route. This last battle was of the hurricane order, and the decision rendered was not received by the majority of the fans any too well. Since then the supporters of both boys have been asked that the promoters rematch the two.

After considerable wrangling with Goodrich's manager Pop Neelis finally closed the match last night.

Hull has been signed up for over a week and has been in diligent training at his home in Fort Worth, Texas, expecting to get this match. He claims that all traces of the soreness in his knee that caused him so much trouble has disappeared and that he will be in the best of shape for this fight. He is confident of a victory over Goodrich this time.

The semi-final is a bout that should press the main go very hard for honors of the evening. Spike Webb, who is making Atlanta his headquarters, has fought with much improved and hard-fighting fighter. He has been appointed coach at Columbia University as reported recently.

Little said he had received invitations to become football coach from several universities but was keeping them under advisement.

"I will probably decide within the next 24 hours whether to remain with Georgetown or accept some other post," Little said tonight.

Lou Little Denies Columbia Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(United Press)—Lou Little, head football coach of Georgetown University, denied tonight that he has been appointed coach at Columbia University as reported recently.

Little said he had received invitations to become football coach from several universities but was keeping them under advisement.

SHRINE CHARITY CONTEST DRAWS SOUTH'S STARS

Dixie's Greatest Warriors Will Be Matched on Grant Field New Year's

By Ralph McGill.

Smelling of wet wool and wetter hopes, the Atlanta special trains pulled out of Athens Saturday night, leaving a Georgia team and supporters jubilant over a 12-6 victory over Tech.

In the team car some of the players were stretched out, favoring stiffening muscles. There was silence for the most part. A season was done, an association that had been closely knit for years was ended.

SORE AND ACHING.
On the train was Stumpy Thomason, "The Mighty Atom," the greatest halfback the south has produced, the finest back of all Georgia Tech's magnificent parade of backs.

His legs were sore and aching, battered by tacklers who were after him when he came back with punts, for the "Atom" caught his, taking the fast, wet balls out of the air as he has always done, figuratively thumping a wet nose at playing it safe.

He eased down into a seat. His three years of furious, dramatic varsity football were ended. His final season had been with a team which afforded him no interference, a season in which he had been battered and bruised, a season in which he had carried the major burden and carried it well.

NOT SO WITH STUMPY.
He might have been thinking about a rest. The critics of football say that the players don't really enjoy it, that they would not play if they did not feel that they had to. The Carnegie Foundation had charged that many were subsidized and played because of that.

"Stumpy," said a football fan sitting opposite the Little Giant, "are you going to play in the Shrine's charity game on New Year's Day?"

"Well," said the Little Giant, tentatively stretching an aching, throbbing leg, "I have been invited. I had a telegram today asking me to and I am going to play if they want me."

NOBLE CAUSE.
"I don't know much about it," he said, "but they tell me it is for the Shrine's hospital for crippled children and I would not say anything I'd rather play for than them. If they want me to play I will."

If that statement from John Grimes Thomason doesn't sell the charity game to the public of the south then they aren't all there. If I were handling the publicity of that game, and I have no idea who it was, I would send out the words of Stumpy Thomason. There is nothing of the platitudinous about him. He meant it just as he said it.

THIS IS HOW IT IS.
And if that doesn't tell the story of the game that is to be played at Grant field on the afternoon of the first day of 1930 then it can't be told.

First players have been chosen to play in the game. There will be 25 from the northern section of the conference and a like number from the southern section.

They will be brought together not later than December 27, and begin training for the game. It means several days of intensive training for them in cold, unpleasant weather. It means a great deal of hard work.

ALL FOR CHARITY.
For the players will receive no remuneration at all. They will be given some memento, probably a wrist watch or gold footballs. They will expect nothing else.

A football public, a bit fed up on football perils after one of the most bizarre seasons in the history of the game, is sure to be aroused by this contest.

Fifty stars have been selected. Of the lot Tony Holm, Alabama's great fullback, is the only one who will not be present. He will play with an All-Eastern team against one from the west.

LIST OF BIG STARS.
The list of stars includes those who have been the various All-Southern teams. On it are the Dixie stars who have been selected on All-American teams.

Will be offered the football fans an opportunity to see what they have always wanted to see—the

Continued on Second Sport Page.

Strib Defeat Sinks Carnera

PARIS, Dec. 8.—(United News.) Primo Carnera, 275-pound Italian heavyweight, lost whatever prestige he had built up as a contender when he lost to the four-year-old Stribling, of Georgia, at the end of the seventh round of their return bout at the Velodrome d'Hiver last night.

Carnera, claiming not to have heard the bell which ended the round, floored Stribling and was disqualified. Even after officials and seconds swarmed into the ring, together with the Stribling family troupe, the giant Italian continued to try to get at his opponent.

Stribling had all the better of the fight for six rounds, dropping Carnera in the sixth. The Italian proved to have no qualifications other than bulk and stamina. He was wide open to Stribling's left, awkward and lacking in aggressiveness except when aroused.

The Georgian fought well, swarming over his man despite a weight disadvantage of nearly 100 pounds. Stribling weighed 184 and pounded Carnera about the ring with ease. The Italian was just the sort of target made to order for a fighter of Stribling's spectacular style.

Sewanee Leaders Battle Tonight

Pattillo Memorial and J. O. Y. Class of Central Baptist, both undefeated, will open the second series of games in the Sewanee league tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court. Four good games are on the card. As some rivalry exists between these clubs this game should be a magnet for quite a crowd.

In the second tilt Carlton Carter will lead the Decatur Presbyterian quintet in an effort to mar their record.

Calvary Aces of Calvary Methodist, will meet Northwest Atlanta in the third game and as both teams are going strong a good game with a close score should result. North Atlanta Baptist, champions last year, will bring the series to a close against the Oakhurst Presbyterian five. The complete schedule for the night follows:

Pattillo Memorial vs. J. O. Y. Class.
8:40 p. m. Class vs. Decatur Presbyterian.
7 p. m. Calvary Aces vs. Northwest Atlanta.
8 p. m. Oakhurst Presbyterian vs. North Atlanta.

13-1 Shot Wins

PARIS, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Before one of the smallest crowds in the history of the city, the 13-1 shot, a 3-year-old, belonging to Gustave Beauvais, won the Maudouret stakes, a steeplechase, at 2 miles and a quarter, from a field of 10 starters today. The winner made all the running and rushed by the finish line five lengths in front of Bright Agrees, 4-year-old, and Cretella, a 3-year-old. None of the other horses finished near the money. The winner paid 13 to 1.

Former Race King Dies of Old Injury

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Teddy Teteloff, 46, former world's champion automobile racing driver, died today at Rest Haven Home, Artesia, Cal.

Death was due, physicians said, to complications from a spine injury received in an accident during a road race between Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz., in 1911.

Teteloff is survived by a widow and a son, who is a cameraman at a Hollywood studio.

"Terrible Teddy," as he was known to race fans two decades ago, won the crown of speed king of the world in 1911 when he defeated Ralph De Palma in a 100-mile road race. He was prominent in the

Coach Stegeman Praises Tech, Georgia for Great Game in Mud

JACKET SQUAD REACHED PEAK IN FINAL GAME

Boys Handled Wet Ball Unusually Well; Penalties Changed Game.

By H. J. Stegeman,
Director of Athletics, University of Georgia and Member of Rules Committee.

The Tech-Georgia game Saturday certainly provided enough thrills for those who stayed it out in the rain. The sudden changes in the status of the game made this particular contest one of the hardest fought and most uncertain games these two rivals have engaged in in some years. Of course the weather added the element of uncertainty, for everyone realized that under the wet ball conditions anything was possible. However, both teams played a wet ball unusually well. Both Chandler and Mizell did extraordinarily fine kicking, and both Thompson and Downes used good judgment in handling the ball or not handling the ball. Both trotted away when the punts were well covered and both handled the kicks nicely when there were no observers on hand to recover a possible fumble.

NO DESERVE CREDIT.
I think both teams deserve a great deal of credit for their fine play. Neither team was definitely a winner until the whistle blew. This seems to be the history of these games year after year. And yet there are plenty of fans who had given one team as many as 12 points on wagers. Those fans who are foolish enough to think that this game is a point-betting proposition are probably beyond advice, but probably the only advice they should get is that as quickly as possible they should consult an alienist and then they would probably give the best alienist in the world credit that they had proved themselves sane. I think that neither Georgia Tech or Georgia will ever have such poor football teams that each cannot play the other within one touchdown in the final game of the year.

TECH'S BEST GAME

I really believe that Georgia Tech played its best game of the year. Had the Jackets been able to show the dash and power they showed against Georgia they would have won several more games. Their performance must have been gratifying to the Tech coaches. This is an indication of what psychology and situation and being the under-dog will do for a team. In a while, and nearly always for a Georgia or Tech team in the annual game. Tech showed enough drive to win games, and only great defensive work on Georgia kept the Jackets score on at least two occasions. So much has been said about Georgia's offensive play this season that little mention has been made about the defensive play, but to my mind, considering the personnel of the team, the defensive work of the Georgia team through the whole season has been remarkable. Especially has this been true against opponents' forward passes. The defensive work of Georgia against Alabama alone was enough to establish its brilliance, and the work of the entire team against Tech only added to these stellar qualities.

PENALTIES.
It has been a long time since I have seen a game in which penalties had so great an effect on scores and scoring chances. The number of penalties was not as overwhelming as has been suggested, but it seemed as if every penalty happened to come just in time to make a touchdown certain, or to prevent an equally certain one. First of all, after a brilliant start, Georgia completed a pass on fourth down, but a penalty gave Georgia another down and a pass was completed for a touchdown. Later, after another great display of offense, Georgia carried the ball to the 10 or 11-yard line, and Tech was penalized to the 1-yard line. That made a touchdown certain, and Georgia ducked over on one play, but the play was called back and Georgia penalized 15 yards. On the next play Georgia completed a pass, and Tech was penalized 15 yards. The kick on the next play was good, and Georgia scored. It seemed destined that a penalty was to come on all the important points in the game. When you try to figure out which team got the breaks, you will think the vote should go to the off-

LAST QUARTER.
In the last quarter Georgia Tech punted from the center of the field, but the play was called back and Tech was penalized 5 yards. The kick on the next play was good, and Georgia scored. It seemed destined that a penalty was to come on all the important points in the game. When you try to figure out which team got the breaks, you will think the vote should go to the off-

Sid ar

Mexico's ace of aces, for his recklessness in flying around South America, Central America, and Cuba on one trip. Recklessness in the cause of advancing aviation is commendable. But recklessness in matters of dress is just plain foolishness. There's no sense in speculating on new fashions when you can come right to this store and see exactly what's the right style in men's clothing and haberdashery—and see the best of prices too!

Two Piece Solid Color Underwear $2.50

COPLEY
ESTABLISHED
79 PEACHTREE ATLANTA, GA.

Veteran Returns

CLYDE WAS KNOWN AS A HEADY PLAYER AND A GREAT BASE STEALER. AINT PRIME

NEW PILOT OF THE BIRMINGHAM SOUTHERN LEAGUE TEAM

Clyde Milan Returns As Rival of Chicks

Birmingham Manager Old Timer in Southern League and a Veteran of Baseball.

By Jack Sords.

Clyde Milan, veteran outfielder, quitting as coach of the Washington Senators to become manager of the Birmingham team, is not new to a managerial berth in the Southern league. In 1925 Milan was in charge of the Memphis team, resigning in the middle of the 1926 season to go to Washington.

Born 43 years ago at Linden, Tenn., Milan developed into one of the best base runners of his time. Following a long period with Washington, he began his managerial career by piloting the Senators in 1922. The following season he led New Haven of the Eastern league.

Milan succeeds Johnny Dobbis, who has identified himself with the Atlanta club.

They got the bad breaks of luck, in that penalties came on those plays that meant so much to the players of both teams.

Picking out the high points of the game is easy, of course. The Georgia pass for a touchdown was almost a perfect play, just enough delay to allow Mizell to shove his man and get into the open. Tech covered well enough to stop an ordinary pass, but the delay behind the line was perfect and the pass worked free a black board play. Dickens made the best running play of the game, a run of sheer drive and fight, gaining some 25 yards after apparently being stopped twice. Mizell ran two beautiful plays in succession, one for 8 yards inside tackle and the next one for 20 yards on the line. Thomson was well covered all day, but one return of a punt covered some 15 yards all the way across the field with speed that no one had ever imagined Stumpy to possess. Downes' return of a punt on the last play of the first half was the most brilliant of the year, in that this play brought out the best blocking of tacklers in the game. Three successive men were mowed down out of Downes' path. Mizell made a great tackle of Downes on the 5-yard line, such a crash that Downes turned a complete somersault in the air and landed squarely on his back on the 2-yard line, but before he could hit his eye a Tech player had pounced on him as the line of scrimmage. Mizell's tackle on this play and Rothstein's tackle of Mizell on a running play in the second quarter were the finest seen in several years.

Both teams deserve great credit for their fine standard of play. Georgia looked versatile and capable and smart on defense. Tech had better inside tackle drive than Alabama has shown all year, a greatly improved team, spirited and fighting, and capable of setting all possible yardage out of a driving, smashing game.

Vandy To Play Jackets, Gophers

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 8.—(AP) Vanderbilt athletic officials tonight announced the Commodore's 1930 football schedule with two dates open, including one additional game over this year's program. Virginia Polytechnic institute will appear on the card for the first time since both schools became members of the Southern conference.

The schedule:
October 4: Minnesota at Minneapolis.
October 11: V. P. I. at Auburn.
October 18: Auburn at Birmingham.
November 1: Mississippi.
November 8: Georgia Tech at Atlanta.
November 15: Tennessee.
November 23: Open.
November 29: (Thanksgiving), Seawane.

Intersectional Games for Big Ten.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Intersectional games with the Army, Navy, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Harvard and Vanderbilt are on the programs of Big Ten football eleven next fall, partially completed schedules revealed tonight.

The schedules automatically dropped Iowa because of the Big Ten faculty committee's refusal to reinstate the school.

Among the games scheduled are:
October 18: Pennsylvania-Wisconsin at Madison.
October 4: Minnesota-Vanderbilt at Minneapolis.
November 8: Ohio State-Navy at Baltimore.
November 1: Chicago-Princeton at Chicago.
November 8: Illinois-Army at New York.

NATIONAL GRID TITLES DERDED BY BOB ZUPPKE

Many Strong Teams Never Meet; All Comparisons Inaccurate.

By Bob Zuppke,
Football Coach, University of Illinois.

(Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

There is no such thing as a national football champion, and it is time to quit talking about one. Before I enlarge upon this theme, to forestall the suggestions that this statement betrays an advanced case of sour grapes on my part, it may be pardoned to recall that the undefeated Illinois eleven of 1927, Big Ten champions, received one of these so-called national titles. Being only human we did not refuse the crown.

But we should have. For the idea of a national champion is all hokum. There never was and never will be a team which is justly crowned the greatest in the land. People may talk about a national champion, but nobody really believes one exists.

NO REAL BASIS.
In recent years any team which happens to schedule a couple of inter-sectional games immediately became a possibility for the All-Country title. The strength of the inter-sectional foe did not matter—all that was necessary was to meet some teams from other sections.

Last year Georgia Tech, by defeating California New Year's Day, at Pasadena, was pronounced by some national champions, but the Dickinson's rating system said Southern California was entitled to the palm. Then there were those who limited the University of Detroit and Boston college could point to an unblemished record.

It is absurd, in my opinion, to talk about a national champion when there are so many strong teams which never meet each other. Often it is impossible to establish a clean-cut sectional supremacy, let alone trying to take in the breadth of the land.

COACHES LAUGH.
I have never yet met a coach, who, even if his team is crowned as national possibility, could discuss the pretension with a straight face.

Big Ten teams are seldom if ever mentioned in any of these discussions of national champions, yet the organization of big universities in the country. As a Big Ten coach I may be regarded as somewhat biased, but circumstances will allow me to present a fair break in any of these rankings.

This is because the Western conference teams play most of their games among themselves, and one important inter-sectional game, on account of their obligations to their fellow members and the greater interest their own traditional rivalries inspire.

But the greatest barrier to a consideration of Big Ten teams is the rule of the conference against post-season games. The Big Ten rule is that no team shall play any game after the season except only eight games, and the season must close the Saturday before Thanksgiving. Ohio State, in 1929, was permitted to travel to the West, but since then tentative invitations have had to be declined. The coast was eager to see our 1929 co-champions visit, but there was no chance that permission could be obtained.

CANNIBALS.
Playing these heavy schedules with each other, it is hard for Big Ten teams to get out and play other teams. They destroy each other, you might say. Not a Big Ten team was undefeated last season, yet it would be fair to say that the best eleven were not the equal of those in other parts of the country.

Big Ten football does not have to take a back seat for any other sport. It is a game of the highest importance in various sections annually for years. Last year I saw Pennsylvania-Cornell and Stanford-Army. "Warner's" Stanford team undoubtedly was a fine machine, but I am sure there were four or five Big Ten eleven in the same class.

They do not grow them bigger or make them faster in one section than in another. Some people think the Pacific coast has better players, but I have been on the campuses and I do not believe this. The fact that they do not have so many universities does possibly bring more high-grade players together in one institution.

COUNTRY DIVISION.
My friend John Heisman advocates a division of the country into four sections, and from each choosing the best team to meet the representatives of those national sections on one I trust that there would be something to such a plan, but there are too many obstacles in the path of putting it into effect, and it is a waste of breath to talk about it.

As there is more inter-sectional activity in the Western conference this year than ever before, perhaps those who talk about national champions will include some Big Ten possibilities. Michigan meets Harvard, Chicago plays Princeton, Ohio State meets Pittsburgh and Illinois the Army.

If the Illinois should have the fortune to go through their schedule and someone tries to pin another of those national titles on us, I trust somebody will remind me of this article.

National champions? There ain't no such animal!

AT ATHENS.
In Saturday's game at Athens Tech was penalized according to the play, when Warner Mizell refused to move from a position he had taken on command of an official. Asking a defensive player to take any position other than the one which his judgment dictates is the very height of officiousness. The same official inflicted a similar penalty on a Vanderbilt player in a Vanderbilt-Georgia game some years ago.

Some officials seem to seize on a minor or imaginary infraction of the rules to show their "courage" in calling them.

There are many capable officials in the game. There is no reason why they should be made to suffer because of the idiosyncrasies of the incompetent. If the southern officials are reduced in number, as the east plans, and if the officials will realize that the public pays to see the game and not them, no matter how natty they may appear, then the game will be greatly benefited.

Hornsby Voted Most Valuable Player in 1929

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(United News).—Rogers Hornsby, Chicago Cubs' second baseman, has been voted the national league's most valuable player for 1929, it was announced today.

The honor, which is the sixth and last official award to be given by the National league, carries with it a bronze medal and a cash prize of $1,000.

Hornsby previously won the award in 1925 as a member of the St. Louis Cardinals and is the only player to take the honor for a second time.

Out of a possible maximum of 80 votes, Hornsby polled 60, the lowest mark by which the award has ever been won.

Leaders in the 1929 contest were: Rogers Hornsby, Chicago... 60; Chick O'Dell, Philadelphia... 54; Bill Terry, New York... 48; Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh... 35. Other players receiving votes in the contest were: John Wauer, Pittsburgh; Red Lucas, Cincinnati; Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh; Hack Wilson, Chicago; Babe Herman, Brooklyn; Guy Bush, Chicago; Chuck Klein, Philadelphia; Melvin Ott, New York; Taylor Douthett, St. Louis; Charley Grimm, Chicago; Travis Jackson, New York; Rabbit Maranville, Boston; Hughie Critz, Cincinnati; Barney Friberg, Philadelphia; Pat Malone, Chicago; Frank Frisch, St. Louis; Arthur Whitney, Philadelphia; Johnny Frederick, Brooklyn; Riggs Stephenson, Chicago; and Zach Taylor, Chicago.

PREP QUINTETS START PRACTICE THIS AFTERNOON

By Roy White.

Atlanta's prep basketball candidates will start work this afternoon in preparation for the 1929-30 season. All of the coaches will assemble their prospects and perfect plans for hard work within the next few days.

G. M. A., prep champions of last year, has already put in a week of hard work and played an interesting game with the Havana Yacht Club last Wednesday night on the Tech court. The Cadets lost, 40 to 35, after three extra five-minute periods.

The Cadets had practiced only five times before the game and played good basketball despite the lack of work.

Loyd's High, under the direction of Coach Dave Johnston, began practice Wednesday afternoon and much progress has already been made. The Hurricane will settle down to hard work this week, for it will mark the first appearance of some of the football players who were on the basketball team last year. The football players returned Friday afternoon, after losing to Madison Aggies.

Tech High, G. I. A. A. champion of last year, under the leadership of Coach Claude Tolbert, will start its 1929 basketball grind this afternoon. Coach Tolbert allowed the candidates one week of rest after the football season closed before starting into the basketball grind.

University School, Marist College, Fulton High, Decatur High, Russell High and Commercial High all will start work this afternoon and continue until the Christmas holidays.

Very few basketball schedules in the prep league have been completed thus far. Several games are pending for the week of December 18, but no dates have been closed at present. Except in a few instances there will be no real strenuous work done until after school opens early in January. A meeting of the city prep league will be held just after the holidays, at which time schedules will be completed and plans made for the tournament.

Although no definite announcement has been made, it is likely that another city prep tournament will be held during the latter part of February to determine the city prep champions.

All of the league members will be allowed to make their own basketball schedules and the tournament play will not interfere with the regular playing season. It will be held immediately after the regular season has closed.

According to the reports from the various coaches, this season should be one of the best in the history of the association. Every school will have at least three players from last year and there is plenty of new material in each of the schools.

Several promising youngsters have entered high schools from the junior high schools and they are expected to play an important part in the league this season.

Cue Tourney Starts Today

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—A change in the rule governing forfeits in the next world championship pocket billiard tournament has just been announced by the National Billiard Association of America. In the tournament which opens in Detroit Monday the players will be allowed to make three consecutive forfeits, instead of two, as was the case last season, before suffering a penalty of 15 points.

A player who forfeits either through a scratch or a foul. This is the second change in pocket billiard rules announced within the last week. The first calling for a smaller ball. The balls which will be used this season will be 2-1/4 inches in diameter, which is 1-16 of an inch smaller than the ball in use in the past.

The 15-point penalty for two forfeits was made effective last season for the purpose of speeding up the play, but it developed that it decreased the action as the players took the two forfeits regardless of the severity of the penalty. In games of 125 points it was often the case where the winner totaled more than 150 before gaining the decision. Following a canvass of the players the billiard officials decided that it would help the game to return to the old three-forfeit system.

The eight players who will take part in the 32-game tournament are: Frank Taborski, champion; Ralph Greenleaf and Erwin Rudolph, former champions; Pasquale Natalie, Marcel Camp, Ontario; Spencer Livsey and Joseph J. McCann.

MAJOR LEAGUES MEET TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Important Matters, Including Radio Rights, Are on Week's Card.

By William J. Chipman,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The retreat of the baseball clans from Chattanooga progressed as far as New York today as officials, managers, managers and camp followers gained strategic positions in which to await the annual meetings of the major leagues here this week. Driven from its traditional meeting site by the razing of the Waldorf-Astoria, the National league will assemble in the Commodore on Tuesday and the American league will gather in the same hostelry on Wednesday. The joint meeting of the two circuits will be held at the Biltmore on Thursday.

Aside from the solemn ceremony of voting the two pennants to the Athletics and the Cubs, the two major circuits have two or three pieces of important business upon which to take action, including an earlier closing date and a stand on the question of broadcasting league games. Both the early closing and the radio will be taken up by each league individually, with final decision doubtless awaiting the joint meeting over which Commissioner Landis will preside.

Although the 1929 world series had the good fortune to encounter three very fine afternoons in Philadelphia after a chilly opening and a frigid second game in Chicago, sentiment in the two circuits seems to lean toward a closing date on next year on the last Sunday in September, the 28th. The world series then could be completed in the first week of October, avoiding conflict with football, except on October 4.

A mid-April opening and a September 28 closing would give the major leagues only about 170 playing dates for the accommodation of 154 games, as opposed to 176 days available in the 1928 schedule. With Sunday baseball in Boston, however, the makers of the charts should find 169 or 170 days sufficient—provided the managers first can reconcile themselves to the loss of the twenty-fifth Saturday and Sunday of the longer arrangement. Some few scheduled double-headers will be necessary in Philadelphia in the shorter season.

OPINION DIVIDED.
The club owners seem to be somewhat divided on the question of broadcasting, with the non-radio group slightly in the majority because of the traditional suspicion with which some of the managers view anything which smacks of progress. Philip De Catesby Ball, social giant of the major leagues, leads the opponents of broadcasting, contending that fans refused to pay to see the Browns play when William Wrigley, Jr., glowing over the fine business of the Cubs at the gate, supports the radio enthusiastically.

Of course, it is merely a coincidence that the Cubs won the pennant last summer as the Browns headed in a straight line for nowhere at all.

Scouts and managers of the two major circuits will haunt the lobbies and the corridors of the Commodore and the Biltmore for the duration of the meeting. Rumors of trading which is rife, but it will be surprising if anything momentous in the way of transfers should take place. The big trades are expected for a time when they may receive the glare of the spotlight alone.

Writers Call Gotham Meeting.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(AP)—James Crumbrine, president of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, has called a meeting of the association to be held in the Hotel Biltmore, New York, December 12, at which time the major leagues will be in session.

SHRINE GAME GETS STUMPY

Continued from First Sport Page.

best players of the two sections started each other.

And if the words of John Griffin Thomson don't sell the game then it can't be sold. The game should pack them in.

A list of the players selected for the game follows:

NORTHERN DIVISION.
Centers: Grow, of V. M. I.; Beall, of South Carolina, and Williams, of Kentucky.

Guards: Farris, of University of North Carolina; Brown, of Vanderbilt; Swafford, of Clemson, and Thayer, of Tennessee.

Tackles: Abernathy, of Vanderbilt; Drury, of Kentucky; Chadwick, of V. M. I. and Johnson, of Tennessee.

Ends: Hug, of Tennessee; Scott, of V. M. I.; Williams, of Washington and Lee, and Heagy, of Maryland.

Quarterbacks: Dodd, of Tennessee, and Hawkins, of V. M. I.

Fullbacks: Dunn, of V. M. I., and McMillan, of Clemson.

Halfbacks: McEver, of Tennessee; Kelly, of Kentucky; Magner, of University of North Carolina, and Hackman, of Tennessee.

Alabama Quint Hard at Work

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Dec. 8.—With the first game of the season scheduled here Saturday night against Don White's Washington University (St. Louis) quintet, early season prospects for Coach Piggy Lambert's perennial title-contending Purdue five seem to indicate an excellent chance of finishing well up in the first division in the Big Ten race. As a nucleus for his 1929-30 team, Lambert retains three regulars from last year's runner-up entry in Charles (Stretch) Murphy, center; Glen Harmonson, forward; and Herman Boots, back guard. With the three veterans, all of whom are playing their third year of collegiate ball, Purdue's little chances hinge on the development of sophomores or reserves to take the places vacated by Captain Cummings, Warren Schnitzer and Clyde Lyle, who graduated last spring.

Purdue Quintet Opens Saturday

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 8.—With the opening of the season scheduled here Saturday night against Don White's Washington University (St. Louis) quintet, early season prospects for Coach Piggy Lambert's perennial title-contending Purdue five seem to indicate an excellent chance of finishing well up in the first division in the Big Ten race. As a nucleus for his 1929-30 team, Lambert retains three regulars from last year's runner-up entry in Charles (Stretch) Murphy, center; Glen Harmonson, forward; and Herman Boots, back guard. With the three veterans, all of whom are playing their third year of collegiate ball, Purdue's little chances hinge on the development of sophomores or reserves to take the places vacated by Captain Cummings, Warren Schnitzer and Clyde Lyle, who graduated last spring.

Store Hours: 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

This Suit Stands Sitting

Davison's Henley

$35

Not every suit will "stand" the sitting of the man who works in an office all day—but Davison's Henley is "built" to stand just such wear—"built" so that it will fall back into shape at the end of a day that would have an ordinary suit upset around the collar—bulging at the elbows—bagging at the knees—and shining in the seat—after all—Davison's Henley "stands" sitting.

Men's Clothing—Second Floor

DAVISON-PAXON CO
ATLANTA—affiliated with MACYS, New York

"A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Rex Restaurant Seeks Aid In Providing More Room

Robert L. York, proprietor, and Jimmy Montgomery, manager of the Rex, are up against a problem that they are asking the public to help them solve.

The facts in the case are, a few months ago the old Rex, a former soft drink parlor was converted into a modern restaurant and everything went along very well until the public found out that they were serving the very best of foods at very reasonable prices, then their main trouble began, and the trouble is more room.

Both Mr. York and Mr. Montgomery worked on this more room proposition for several weeks and then called in an engineer who made a careful survey of the matter and admitted that if they continued to give the same well-cooked foods served by beautiful girls in natty uniforms they would have to cut down on the quantity and quality or go up on the prices and this they will not do, so now they are keeping their front doors open from 6 a. m. until midnight in order that most everybody can drop in and help them solve their room problem.

Personally one of the representatives of this department believes that Jimmy Montgomery himself has had a good deal to do with this enticing hungry folks into the Rex, for he is an affable sort of a fellow, who has had many years experience in his line of business and he has a good live organization of alert men and girls who serve everybody quickly, and do it with a smile.

The Rex is located in the Grand Theater building, convenient to the theater, hotel and shopping district. Due to the fact that the restaurant serves early hot breakfasts or late theater party suppers, everybody is assured of getting a warm meal there 18 hours a day.

Roosevelt Returns To Attend Funeral Of Maurice Bloch

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt returned today from Warm Springs, Ga., to attend the funeral of Maurice Bloch, democratic assembly leader, who died at the Roosevelt Memorial hospital Thursday after an operation for appendicitis.

After the funeral the governor left for Chicago to attend a democratic luncheon there Tuesday.

FORD EXPERIMENT DRAWS ATTENTION

BY R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Henry Ford put into effect this week his much-discussed increase in wages. Without going into details, Ford announced week before last, on leaving the first Washington business stimulating conference, that he was going to do his bit in helping the general business situation and outlook by adding to the buying power of his employees.

According to the Washington dispatches, at that time, when Ford made his unexpected announcement there was much dropping of faces of other leaders leaving the conference, especially those of competitive automobile manufacturers.

Wall Street realizes that in raising wages at this time following the cut in selling prices announced last week, Ford is doing some highly interesting experimenting in economics, experiments that will make the going for his competitors, for the time being, easier. After Ford made a cut in his selling prices, some of his strongest competitors, including General Motors, advanced their selling prices.

Third Increase. This is the third increase made by Ford in his minimum wage since 1914. In January of 1914, Ford started his minimum wage at $2.34 a week. The next increase was made in 1918, when it was raised to $3.34 a week. The latest increase was made in 1927, when it was raised to $5.00 a week.

On January 1, 1919, Ford advanced his minimum wage to $6.00. That step added millions to his annual bill for wages. The increase started with the beginning of this week and the annual wage up another $20,000,000.

In announcing this week's wage increase, it was stated that the company recently gave the consuming public the benefit of economies from production and that these same benefits were now being passed along to employees, adding, "Wage increases have been collected from the public and can they be taken out of the quality of the product; they have to be made up by better management of the work. That is the reason we intend to justify this wage increase."

Ford for years has been called by many people in and out of Wall Street a "crazy idealist." Ford has made some mistakes. But judging from the net results obtained since the name of Ford became known in the automobile world, despite his so-called "crazy economics," he has managed to keep his feet on the ground and the wheel away from the door.

When war and post-war inflation started in 1920, Wall Street was so confident that Ford was in a tight corner that a well-known banker in the financial district here went to Ford with a detailed financial reorganization plan, including the taking over of control of the Ford company. This banker did manage to get past Ford's front door. On the other hand, Wall Street, however, he admitted frankly that Ford, in handing him his hat, had said things that still rang in his ears. The outcome of Ford's 1920 experience was that he went through that trying period without borrowing a dollar from the banks here or anywhere, something some of his competitors could not say.

Ford again had his back to the wall a few years ago when he was changing models. What that experience cost Ford, Wall Street does not know. Its estimate, however, ran to several hundred millions of dollars. But whatever it was, General Motors, Ford's strongest competitor, certainly made the most of it.

Ford was practically out of busi-

The Business Barometer

BY THEODORE H. PRICE
Editor, Commerce and Finance, New York.

President Hoover is entitled to great credit for his promptitude and prescience in checking the business depression that threatened to spread over the country because the stock market had declined. Once again he has shown that "there is nothing good or bad but thinking makes it so," and that both optimism and pessimism are the result of psychological conditions.

Under the leadership of Mr. Hoover the captains of American business and industry gathered in Washington and pledged themselves to the constructive expenditure of many billions of dollars.

Insofar as they are in power to do so, the governors of various states have pledged themselves to pursue a similar policy, and bills which provide for radical increases in the expenditures of the federal government for public works and improvement have already been introduced into congress.

To the program at this outlined and adopted, President Hoover gives approval in his message. Therefore, public expenditures during the year 1930 promise to be large. After Ford made a cut in his selling prices, some of his strongest competitors, including General Motors, advanced their selling prices.

Facing these conditions, it is natural to ask what the result will be. The economic situation is much like the one created by the war except that no destruction of property is involved. That some change in the purchasing power of money will be brought about by the large expenditures that are in prospect seems to be almost certain, and it would appear to be equally certain that the value of a gold dollar as measured by merchandise, will be reduced during the next 12 months.

The experience of the past justifies this prediction, and recent occurrences have shown that precedents are not to be pursued even though they may be ancient.

Assuming that this brief prognosis of the situation is correct, it is in order to ask what will be the effect upon business. To this question the logical answer seems to be higher-priced commodities, for commodities always advance when the value of money declines. Just now the probability of such a change in the fundamental relationship between money and merchandise seems to be imminent.

Commodity Speculation. Many of the commodity exchanges recently organized open the door to speculative operations in various staples with which the American public is likely to get better acquainted if conditions warrant.

This possibility would seem to justify an increased interest on the part of the intelligent speculator who is trained to study the law of supply and demand.

On these commodity exchanges, of which there are 21 in the United States and Canada, the following articles are dealt in for cash or for future delivery:

Barley, burp, butter and eggs, cotton, coffee, cottonseed, cottonseed oil, flaxseed, hides and skins, lard, milfeeds, oats, ribs, rice, rubber, rye, silk, sugar, sugar beets, tin, wheat.

The world's annual production of the articles enumerated is worth over $25,000,000,000, and if a decrease in the purchasing power of money is imminent, the value of these commodities will be increased. Therefore, it is advised that these future markets shall be carefully watched, and that any developments need a year and a half. During that period, General Motors made a killing with its record-breaking Chevrolet production. That killing in record production was translated into earnings and then into increased and extra which point to the advance in merchandise prices should be promptly heeded.

Outlook Good. Meanwhile it may be said that the American ship of business is again on an even keel. Those who lost heavily in the recent decline in the stock market are still pessimistic, but most of our population has recovered its normal optimism, and while the expenditure for luxuries this Christmas won't be as large as it was a year ago, the retailers do not seem to be seriously disturbed over the outlook.

The chain stores and most department stores as well sold more goods in November than in the same month a year ago, and where decreases occurred they are frequently ascribed to unseasonably warm weather.

It is estimated that from ten to twenty million people were speculatively interested in the stock boom but of these at least one-half would normally be stockholders, and if the stock market had not taken the money that the other half lost they would probably have spent it in some other way. The important thing to remember is that there has been no real loss of money in the stock market, and that the wealth of America is just as great as ever.

The jobbing trade, which is always dull during December, shows a slight improvement, and the demand for cotton goods is remarkably active when all the conditions are taken into consideration. It may foreshadow the decline in the value of money to which reference has already been made.

The stock market, though comparatively quiet, has been quite firm, and normal conditions are to be expected hereafter. Meanwhile the lower money rates are being followed by a gradual further liquidation of loans on securities is to be expected, new issues are again being floated constantly.

Basic Strength. The commodity markets have been quiescent, but they have all shown an undercurrent of strength. Silk is a little better. Coffee is low, but its cheapness will be somewhat doubtful until it is proven that the large Brazilian stocks can be disposed of without a further depression in the market. Sugar appears to be very near the irreducible minimum, though the statistical section is obviously weak.

The steel market is steady, although a slight reduction in the demand is reported by the trade authorities.

The grain markets seem to be reasonable when their post-war record is considered, and although wheat is not cheap at $1.35, it cannot be called dear. The demand for flour is said to be poor, but the vacuum in stocks must be filled sooner or later.

As a result of the increase in the money market an increase in the new building under consideration is reported. Iron and steel mill activity is still declining, and some textile manufacturers have curtailed operations. Automobile production is the lowest in two years and the industry will begin the new year cautiously. It is not an ambitious production program and a prominent executive who has frequently been right believes that by March the industry will be selling as many cars as it did last year.

Distributive trade in what may be called the necessities, or semi-luxuries, is fully up to an average, and if the limitations of the new year are jewelry, furs, cosmetics, and other articles of luxury, could be silenced, the tone of the markets would be pitched in a major key and sound much more cheerful than it does to those who listen to the hard-luck stories of New York speculators and inexperienced stock traders.

End of Last Week Previous Week Last Year
Business failures (Dun's) in thousands. 455 371 448
Federal Reserve ratio. 71.5% 71.8% 64.8%

Security prices, N. Y. Stock Exch.:
30 Industrials 251.51 238.95 271.05
20 Railroads 149.41 145.89 144.56
40 Bonds 94.46 94.05 96.16

Commodity prices:
Wheat, December delivery, Chicago 1.29 1.23 1.14
Corn, December delivery, Chicago .90 87 85
Rye, Dec. delivery, Chicago 1.04 1.05 1.05
Beef, good dressed steers, Chicago 20.25 19.25 21.00
Sugar, refined, New York .0500 .0500 .0525
Cotton, middling, New York 17.35 17.80 20.40
Print cloth, New York .05 1.04 1.04
Silk, double ex-cracks, New York 4.75 4.80 5.15
Wool, Dutch average, New York .6024 .6108 .6111
Rubber, crude plantation, New York 1.14 1.14 1.14
Rubber, pack No. 1, New York 1.16 1.16 1.16
Iron, No. 2, Philadelphia 21.26 21.26 21.76
Steel billets, Pittsburgh 35.00 35.00 33.00

COTTON CLOTH MARKET IS ON FIRM BASIS

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Following the active trading in print cloths when new low prices were first named last week, the market has quieted down this week with some falling off in our sales. They remain on a better basis than for the early weeks of November, however. We are glad to report that bids of one-eighth of a cent less than last week's prices for print cloths, even though made for large quantities of spot goods have met with no success. Current prices are unwarrantably low and have only been brought about by the failure of an attempt to hold at an artificial level without recognition of the unfavorable influences which outside happenings were bringing to bear.

It convinces us once more that the principles of good merchandising require constant attention to the influences of outside matters, as well as to those within the trade. We hope it has also brought home, more than ever, the wisdom of beginning individual curtailment as soon as orders begin to fall off and goods begin to accumulate. During the war times it may have proved profitable, occasionally, to accumulate goods, but it certainly has not since 1920, and all recent tendencies in the way of merchandising are certainly against the accumulation of more than necessary stocks.

To imagine that this theory is sound and businesslike in all other lines but cotton goods and that cotton mills are an exception has no foundation.

The textile industry has been slower than almost any other in recognizing this principle, but is scarcely likely to forget it hereafter. Nothing depresses the market like accumulated stocks, and nothing exhilarates the market like scarcity of goods. At present we are at the turn of the road. The forces making for depression are holding full play and are exhausting their influences; the forces making for progress are making their appearance.

Prices of cotton goods are low and retail trade, at least, as shown by reports from the mail order and chain stores, has not suffered. Sooner or later this depression in textiles is found to be followed by more than moderate activity. At present, as we remarked last week, cotton goods are the bargain counter. That many think so is evidenced by the fact that there have been a number of bids in the market during the week for print cloths for delivery during the second quarter of next year at current prices. As a rule, the mills feel that this is no time to accept business far ahead at unremunerative prices.

Prices of new year goods are extraordinary carried into next year and that by January its influences will play a large part in bringing back the market to normal. We so confidently expect early in the coming year.

HUNTER & CO.
MORE MEN NEEDED TO BRING NAVY UP TO PEACE STRENGTH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Pointing to the increasing needs of naval aviation for officers and men, Rear Admiral R. H. Leigh, chief of the navy bureau of navigation, in his annual report today urged the policy of supplying aviation at the expense of the rest of the service must be abandoned if the efficiency of the navy as a whole is to be maintained.

Admiral Leigh's report said that the fleet at present is badly undermanned, being about 8,000 men short of operation for proper peacetime operation. To maintain a "nucleus crew" system for the purpose of expanding the fleet in case of emergency would require about 3,000 more enlisted men, he said.

Only the special service squadron in Latin American waters, the Asiatic squadron and the first line submarines now carry a 100 per cent complement, the admiral reported. Destroyers have 85.5 per cent of their full crews, the aircraft carriers 87.5, the first line cruisers 92.6 and the 16 battleships in commission 91.9 per cent.

Need envelopes in a big hurry? Want to get an estimate on a printing job? Please call MAIN 3370 and see what modern service this 36-year-old Atlanta institution can render.

Atlanta Envelope Co.
505-11 Stewart Ave., S. W.
Atlanta

Chas. J. Williamson
190 Pryor St., S. W., Atlanta
Wholesale
Dry Goods and Ladies' Ready-to-Wear.
Modern Merchandising Methods Come and get them.

W. C. SPIKER & CO.
Structural and Architectural Consulting and Designing Engineers
Established 1900
Forsyth Building, Atlanta, Georgia.
1451 Empire Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

Prentice L. Meadows & Co.
Certified Public Accountants
AUDITS—SYSTEMS—TAXES
Red Rock Bldg. Atlanta, Ga.

Announcing the addition of a modern SHO CARD DEPT.
BAILES SIGN CO.
215 Marietta St.
Atlanta 1797

Superior Mattress Co.
835 Bankhead Ave., N. W.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
One Day Service
Remounting Like New
Call Hemlock 9274
H. R. Simon, Pres. W. O. Maders, Sec'y.

Burford, Hall & Smith
Power Plants and Power Plant Equipment
Pumping Machinery
Phone WALnut 8890
Red Rock Bldg. Atlanta, Ga.

LET THE WILLIAMS PRINTING CO.
Print your Office Stationery, Folders, Brochures, Circulars, Greeting Cards and anything else you have in the printing line.
RHODES BUILDING
Third Floor WAL 6592-6593

REMOVAL NOTICE
Camp Cylinder Grinding Announce Their Removal From 175 HOUSSON STREET, N. E.
WALnut 6593
We Hope to Have the Pleasure of Serving You in Our New Location.

For Speed, Service and Satisfaction, Use SOUTHEASTERN EXPRESS
Main 0110 "The South's Own Express Company" Main 0110

Imperial Bedding Company Moves to Own New Building

The Imperial Bedding Company, formerly located at 691 Whitehall street, S. W., has moved to its own new building on East Cain street, between Jackson and North Boulevard.

This big renovating company is the outgrowth of the Dixie Mattress Company, whose work seven or eight years ago was so favorably known that it was obliged to move to larger quarters four times because of increasing business. While the large building it formerly occupied seemed to be large enough a year ago, it became too small a few months ago. The management has erected a building twice as large as the old one and now has the largest especially built mattress renovating building in the southeast.

In this new building, T. H. Moore, the proprietor, put the ideas of more than 20 years gained in the mattress making business, and each machine has been located where best suited and each workman where he can work with the most comfort and ease. As light and ventilation play such a big part in the modern manufacturing plant, special consideration was given them in making the plant.

As an indication of the volume of business the company is now handling, a double force of workmen is employed, and generally this season is growing so fast. The first is that its big electric sterilizing machine is proving to housewives that no parasite can ever survive the 230 degrees of heat.

In addition the big felting machine works over all kinds of cotton or old felting and makes the many fleecy thin, re-like sheets into units of 12 and these units are built up until all of them make the required thickness of the mattress.

In the matter of service, Mr. Moore says that a few hours is all that is needed to renovate a mattress. Rainy or bad days do not interfere with deliveries as closed, covered trucks are used.

building where we were located for nine years.

"A factor that has caused us to run much over time lately is we have added a fine line of Christmas cards to our own lines and when the sales force began to tell the people of Atlanta and vicinity that they could make their own personal selections of Christmas and birthday cards and receive them just when they wanted them, the orders began to come in very fast and their many printing presses have been kept busy even in the dull time of the year."

"The Williams Printing Company is well equipped with a good organization of men and equipment to do the better kind of printing as fast as may be required."

Williams Printing Company
BUSINESS RUSHING
"We are now in the closing weeks of the best year we have ever had," says Jesse Williams, proprietor of the Williams Printing Company, in the Rhodes building annex.

"Business started off with us very good in the first part of the year," continued Mr. Williams, "and has so continued. In fact it became so good in the spring that we had to move from our old location in the Throver

LUMBER
You build for permanency with MILLER LUMBER—strong, hardy wood that resists wear. Cut in a great variety of sizes, at reasonable prices.

BIRD'S ROOFING
MILLER LUMBER CO.
1171 RIDGE AVE., S. W. PHONE MAIN 3156

Knight-Luttrell Iron Company Incorporated
Scrap Iron, Metals and Rubber
972 Avon Ave., S. W. Atlanta, Ga. Telephone WE 0200

MR. MERCHANT—
We Still Have Time to Fill All Orders
RUSH SERVICE FOR THE DEALER
Toys, Games, Books, Dolls, Novelties
Milton Bradley Co.
285 Peachtree St., N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

AUSTIN BROS. BRIDGE CO.
STRUCTURAL STEEL
FOR ALL PURPOSES
Reinforcing Rods—Bridges—Road Machinery
Offices and Plant Opposite Ft. McPherson
Atlanta, Ga. Telephone WE 2200

TRI-STATE AUDIT CO.
Edgar A. Pabor, President
Audits, Systems, Income Tax Advisers
Rhodes-Haverty Bldg. Atlanta, Ga.

STORAGE
In Fireproof Building
Day Rates $5.00 Per Month.
Day and Night Rates $7.50 Per Month.
CAIN STREET GARAGE
78-88 Cain Street
1 1/2 Blocks from Peachtree St.

WELDING ENGINEERS, Rollers, Machinists, Welders, Radiators, Electric and Air-Conditioning Machines and supplies.
S. P. RYAN & A. W. P. RYAN
815 Peachtree St. N. E.
BIRD-POTTS CO., Inc.
Atlanta, Ga. IVY 4250

UN X LD
Best—By Every Test
Owing to the great popularity of our standard line of fireworks, we suggest you write or wire for reservation. Assortments better and larger than ever. —Goods that are tested and prices satisfactory.
Office, 60 Gilmer St. Phone, WAL 1023-3. Warehouse, 133 Decatur St.

Use Numetal WEATHER STRIPS
FOR WINDOWS AND DOORS
On the Job Continuously Rain or Shine
Cold Weather or Warm Weather—They are Permanent and Economical
Shut out bad weather
Shut out cold drafts
Keep out dust and noise
Inexpensive—Quickly installed
The South's Largest Awning Builders
ATLANTA TENT & AWNING CO.
Factory and Office, East Point, Ga. Phone FAirfax 1483
We'll be waiting for your call

STEIN & CO., Inc.
Wholesale Dealers—Smelters
SCRAP—METALS—IRON—RUBBER
We Sell Re-Conditioned Pipe. Structural Iron of All Kinds.
329 DeCATUR ST. PHONE IVY 2110

Zaban STORAGE COMPANY
A modern warehouse for the storing and packing of household goods. Long Distance Removals.
Dependable!
WAL 2701

HARD TO FIND
The little things in plumbing which are so hard to find can usually be found here because we carry the largest variety of plumbing repairs in the south. We can save you time, money and annoyance.
PICKERT PLUMBING SUPPLY COMPANY
197-199 Central Avenue Wholesale and Retail WALnut 8189

THOS. F. SEITZINGER'S SONS
SMELTERS AND REFINERS
New and Old Metals
Brass, Bronze and Aluminum Castings.
900 Ashby St., N. W. Tel. HE 4013-4014

HAISS "CREEPER MODEL" LOADERS
A Real Money Saver
SOLD BY:
W. C. CAYE & CO.
Contractors' Equipment and Construction Machinery
100 Walker Street
TELEPHONE MAIN 3177

J. R. ROBISON H. H. HUNT
Tax Consultant C. P. A.
ROBISON & HUNT
AUDITORS—ACCOUNTANTS—TAX CONSULTANTS
Phone WALnut 4484 161 Spring Street Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

DEALERS IN
Hides, Tallow, Beeswax, Metals, Scrap Iron, Etc.
Quotations Furnished on Request.
CAPITAL HIDE & METAL CO.
603-7 Peters St. Phone MA 0217

RITTENBAUM BROS.
Manufacturers of Sanitary Wiping Cloths 472-78 DECATUR ST.
WAL 7824 Atlanta, Ga.

THE CASE LINE
Of Farm Machinery
Binders
Hay Loaders
Manure Spreaders
Mowers
Hay Rakes
Clover Crushers Drills Field Tillers
Listers
Stalk Cutters
Tractor Plovers
Wheatland Disk Plow
Ridge Busters
Disk Harrows, etc.
Case bargain list includes such machines as Thrashers, Disk Plows, Disk Harrows, etc. Attractive prices on these machines.
J. I. CASE COMPANY
Est. 1842
523 Stewart Ave., S. W. Phone MA 3991. Atlanta, Ga.

DICK'S ORIGINAL
TRADE MARK
Headquarters for
MILL SUPPLIES
Barrett-Watson Co.
53 S. Forsyth St.
WAL 9182-83

Everything for the Farm and Dairy
PAPEC
Feed Grinder
Grind The Feed You Grow
Almand Implement Co.
Distributors
1009 Marietta St., N. W. HE 2585
Atlanta, Ga.

We Invite Gentlemen to Visit the
REX
The finest place of its kind in the south.
Where the drinks are always the coldest, the lunches are appetizing and the candies and cigars of the best.
We are in the heart of Atlanta, at 109 Pryor St., N. E.
ROBERT L. YORK
Proprietor

MATTRESSES RE-FELTED
$5 and Up
Good Ticking, Best Work
Electrically Sterilized
IMPERIAL BEDDING CO.
"Sleep Headquarters"
Phones WE 3585-4231

We are receiving a carload a week of Brunswick Tires
and our prices are very low.
Some of These Tires Are GUARANTEED 16,000 MILES
and Some Are Guaranteed
10,000 MILES
We Begin Selling a Good Grade of Motor Oil at 55c Per Gallon
120 Days Ago and Are Now Selling More Than 1,000 Gallons a Week
GOLDEN EAGLE CO.
Six Stores for Your Convenience
741 Marietta St. (Headquarters) 285 Peters St.
Court Square, Decatur; Broadway and Poplar, Macon;
24 S. Bradford St., Gainesville, Ga.; Cartersville, Ga.

Mundy Hoist
Here is a very handy hoist for light work: the Mundy 15 H. P. 2-drum, with Lerol gasoline engine.
YANCEY BROS., Inc.
Telephone MAin 3964 634 Whitehall St., S. W.
"Caterpillar" Tractors—Road Building Machinery
Contractors' Equipment

Back-Stage Immensity Features New Fox Theater

Visitors to the magnificent new Fox theater, at Peachtree and Ponce de Leon, are struck with the largeness of this playhouse, but all they generally see is the splendor and immensity of everything in front of the stage. But back-stage this record-breaking vastness continues. Take for instance the electrical switchboards.

The stage switchboard is not only the largest in the world but the most complete in regard to the lighting effects that can be created and controlled from it. Every bit of lighting in the vast auditorium is controlled from the stage switchboard, as are, of course, the hundreds of lights that play on the stage.

Along the footlights there are four distinct colors that are controlled from this board, and while one combination of lights is in use on one set on the stage another can be set up ready for use in the next scene without disturbing the scene in use. This insures a continuity of acting

"The VIRGINIAN"

A Paramount Outdoor All-Talking Classic With GARY COOPER WALTER HUSTON RICHARD ARLEN MARY BRIAN

From the Novel by Owen Wister
NOW 25c
Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Paramount Sound News
THE 1 P. M.
"BEDELIA"

Theater Programs

AUDITORIUM-ARMORY—The "Passion Play," with the Freiburg Players.
ERLANGER—"The Vagabond King," with Paul Keast.
DOWNTOWN SHOWS.
KEITH'S GEORGIA—"The Locked Door," with Rod La Rocque and Betty Compton, and Bill of Keith vaudeville, headlined by Charlie Alhoff.
LOEW'S CAPITOL—"The Shanghai Lady," with Mary Nolan, and Bill of Loew vaudeville, headlined by Signor Friscoe.
PARAMOUNT—"The Virginian," with Gary Cooper.
RIALTO—"Woman to Woman," with Betty Compton.
CAMEO—"This Is Heaven," with Vilma Banky.
LOEW'S GRAND—"The Mysterious Island," with Lionel Barrymore.
ALAMO NO. 2—"Man, Woman and Wife," with Pauline Starke and Norman Kerry.

NEIGHBORHOOD MOVIES.
DEKALB—"Noah's Ark."
EMPIRE—"Words and Music."
PALACE—"The Dance of Life."
PONCE DE LEON—"On With the Show."
TENTH STREET—"Madame X."
WEST END—"Paris Bound."

with very short intermissions when so desired.

From a central point on the switchboard the electrician can put out or bring on any light or combination of lights on or near the stage by pushing a single button. This board controls one hundred and twenty 2,000-watt spotlights in addition to the border and footlights. Spots are placed over all bridges, side bridges, balcony and dome.

The brightness or dimness of the stars in the sky blue ceiling; the slanting rays of sunrises and sunsets; drifting clouds and celestial effects destined to hold patrons enthralled by their sheer beauty can be created at will by the stage electrician.

The stage board is 20 feet long and 12 feet high, and the switches and dimmers are so ingeniously arranged that only one man will be required to give dozens of simultaneous lighting effects during a performance, no matter how complicated.

The huge service switchboard in the basement has switches enough and current enough to supply all the electricity that would be required by a city of five or six thousand people. Several of the switches installed on this board are so large and heavy that small electric motors are required to operate them. A regular network of bars connect the main switch to this service board, which supplies the current to the stage board, the refrigeration motors, elevators, fans, blowers, motor generators, and conducting machines and electric signs.

In short, it is far and away the largest switch in Atlanta, measuring about 2 feet long and 15 inches high.

There's a seat for everyone at the magnificent new Fox Theatre... 5,000 of them... and every one a good seat!

POPULAR PRICES!
The finest shows in the land in the finest theatre in the world at prices that will enable all to enjoy at least one good show every week

Opens Xmas Day
THE LAST WORD
Peachtree at Ponce de Leon

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

THE VIRGINIAN

TRAGIC ROMANCE OF BROKEN LOVE PLAYS AT ALAMO

Five souls—two women and three men—are entangled in the web of romance and tragedy that makes up the intensely interesting story of "Man, Woman and Wife." The universal picture starring Norman Kerry, showing today only at the Alamo No. 2.

Two of them—a man and a woman—are of the underworld. Another man and woman belong to society's finest. The fifth is a tragic figure tossed between the underworld existence forced upon him and his former position of respectability in high social circles.

"Man, Woman and Wife" is reported to be one of the most intensely interesting of the year. It is adapted from an original screen story by Charles A. Logan. Edward Laemmle directed it. The cast includes Charles A. Logan, Edward Laemmle, and others.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended December 5, as reported to Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lost and Found 10
FOUND—A gold place to get money. We are specialists in financing salaried people. FULTON BROKERAGE CO., INC. 200 Gold Bldg., 2nd E. Edgewood Ave.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive 11
OLD CARS FOR SALE. Where you may find your used car shopping in a new car atmosphere.

Automotive</

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 13

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Paul Vitch pretended to show the boy how to secure the ape should it exhibit signs of rebellion during the trip. Jack laughed: "That's not necessary—he'll do whatever I tell him." "Come here!" said the man, "and do as I tell you, or you can't take him to Dover!" The boy did as told. Still smiling, he held his hands behind him. The Russian slipped the noose over Jack's wrists and quickly knotted the cords tight.

The fellow's attitude of friendliness now changed immediately! With an ugly oath he wheeled his prisoner about, hurling him violently to the floor. His fingers sought the boy's throat as he grimed down horribly into his victim's face. "Your father ruined me," he mumbled crazily. "This will pay him! I will bring him to see your body—and tell him the ape did it!" the twisted fiend cackled with gloating laughter.

Suddenly the room echoed with the growls of the maddened ape! Its great muscles surged out beneath its shaggy hide. Paul Vitch looked up, his face white with terror—THE APE WAS FREE! With a single bound the beast fell upon the man, wrenching him from the struggling boy. Great fingers sunk into the wretch's throat; yellow fangs snapped shut, and when they closed the breath of life had gone forever from the dastardly Paul Vitch.

Assisted by Akut, the boy worked over the bonds that held him. Finally they yielded their secret. He cut the cords from his body. Opening one of his bags he drew forth some garments. His plans were well laid! The beast docilely did all that Jack directed. Into the midnight stillness, unmolested, the pair slunk from the house. No casual observer would have noticed that one of the two was an ape!

REAL ESTATE FOR RENT

Houses for Rent, Unfurnished 77A
2 ROOM bungalow, 2 garages, very nice.
187 Twelfth St. N. E.
N. SIDE BRICK BUNGALOW, 4 BED
ROOMS, STEAM HEAT, WA. 1449.
SEVERAL new brick homes, all conveniences. West 1833 or West 1899-7.
BEAUTIFUL 6-room South Side bungalow and garage, near 30th St. WA. 9200.

Office Space for Rent 78A
OFFICES—Single or en suite, Candler building, Candler Annex, Forsyth Building. Convenient to postoffice, financial center and retail district. Air, heat, cold water in each office. Compressed air, and other conveniences for professional offices. Service unexcelled. Ask G. Candler, Inc., 1707 Candler Bldg., Walnut 3970.

NEW OFFICE SPACE FOR RENT, CALL
MR. K. R. MCALISTER, IVY 4060.

Wanted to Rent 81
WE CAN rent your vacant property. Thirty-five years of satisfactory service. Prompt payment given personal attention. Call Mr. Wilson, 4190 Peachtree St. N. E. 0163.

COUPLE without children desires small N. E. furnished apt. for 2 months. Immediate possession. JA. 2612-R.
BACHELOR desires one room apt., kitchen, bath, state gas, central heat, etc.
LIST your home and apartments for rent with Burdett Realty Co.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

Brokers in Real Estate R
GUARANTEED BOND & MORTGAGE CO.
Reno, LaSalle, Adams and Finance.
Wynne-Claughton Bldg. WA. 0960.
ADAMS-CATES CO. WA. 5477.
204 Grant Bldg.

DRAPER-OWENS CO. WA. 3657.
519 Grant Bldg.
WALTHALL & CHAPMAN, INC. WA. 5459.
804 Healey Bldg. Realtors.

HAAS-HOWELL BROS. WA. 3111.
J. R. NUTTING & CO., 1001 G. St. Bldg. WA. 0156. Homes and Investments.
A. CHAVES sells homes, lots, income property and farms. 15 Auburn Ave.

MERCHANTS & MECHANICS BANK. 30 Forsyth St. N. W. WA. 1000.
SHARP & BOYLSTON WA. 2990.
26 Luckie St.

BANK-WHITTEN CO.—Real Estate and Rents 21 North Forsyth. WA. 0636.
STATE REALTY & CONSTRUCTION CO. 421 Healey Bldg. WA. 5555.
ATLANTA TRUST COMPANY—Real estate department. Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg.

TURMAN-BROWN CO. 210 Georgia Savings Bank Bldg. WA. 4274.

Farms and Lands for Sale 83
3 ACRES, 5-room house, suitable for farm, chickens or rabbits. 300 ft. on highway. Small cash sale. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

WE specialize in DeKalb county farms and lands. 5000 to 10000 acres. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

Houses for Sale 84
OWNER, leaving city, must sell at once, new English design home, 6 rooms and breakfast room brick veneer, Garden Hills. Lot 60x100. Small cash payment. Terms arranged. Call JA. 7664-R, day or night.

MORNINGSIDES
EXCELLENT BARGAIN.
SIX-ROOM dark red brick bungalow, large front porch, tile floor, lot 51x100. Large shady trees and plenty of fruit. Refined community and 2 doors to street. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

$1,500 LESS THAN COST
LOOK at 907 Highland View. The biggest bargain ever offered for sale in the history of Atlanta real estate. Be quick if you want it. Owner, WA. 2749.

$7,000 eight-room house at a sacrifice, for immediate sale, $4,500. 472 East Lincoln St. Rev. James A. Moore, owner, P. O. Box 506, Chicago, Ill.

NO 5-year loan, no interest coupons, a new, North built, sleeping porch, brick veneer. Only $6,500, on terms, $100 cash down, $10 per month. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

Every McKee's Built Home is a "MODEL HOME."
Let us finance and build your home. HAROLD MCKEE'S CO. 1600 Peachtree St. N. E. WA. 2820.

FIVE rooms, garage, 1 block east, Howell Mill rd. sect. Small cash payment, good terms. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

8 ROOM bungalow suitable for two families. Steam heat, $5,000. WA. 1531.

HOME BUILDERS—Atlanta Realty & Construction Co., Healey Bldg. JA. 3198.
MUST sell or trade immediately Atlanta Park bungalow. Leaving city. Hm. 5748.

W. D. BEATTIE—Homes without loans. 305 101 Building, Marietta St. WA. 2811.

Lots for Sale 85
TWO beautiful elevated lots, West End park, 8000 each. You who are looking for bargains, here they are. T. M. York, WA. 6601, JA. 3175-W.

DECATUR LOTS AND RESIDENCES. C. J. METZ, Candler Bldg. WA. 2894.
HERBERT KAISER, 1401 C. & S. BLDG. 10 MONTHLY will pay 60x150 lots in fast growing section. Call WA. 6652.

Property for Colored 86
$1.00 WKLY. home lots from owner. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

BARGAINS—Homes, lots, land, quick service. A. Brown & Bell, 220 Auburn. JA. 2537.
905 MAYSON TURNER, $3,850; 59 Booker St., $3,000. Reasonable terms. JA. 2903.

BEAUTIFUL bungalow, different section city. John Allen Realty Co., WA. 8287.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Real Estate
WE WANT LISTINGS
HOMES, vacant lots, apartments and investment property. If you really want to sell or trade your property and can give us reasonable commission, call us. We are equipped to render exceptional service in our line.

John J. Thompson Co.
415 Candler Bldg. Realtors WA. 3935

TRULY DIFFERENT
STORY and half stone and shingle home on 14-acre corner lot, well-wooded and fenced in; 4 bedrooms and sleeping porch. Servants' quarters, daylight basement. Price $25,500. See for yourself this unchallenged value in a wonderful rustic modern home. Call or write to: Hurry! W-10, Constitution.

QUICK LOANS
FOR HOLIDAY SHOPPING
LOANS made on all personal property. Investigate our easy payment plan. Business confidential.

Southern Security Co.
204 Arcade Bldg. WA. 0884

Loans on Diamonds
CONFIDENTIAL LOANS
On Diamonds and Valuables
5 Peachtree Street
Walnut 1910

LOANS ON DIAMONDS
Unredeemed Pledges for Sale
MAY BROS., Inc.
191 Peachtree—Upstairs

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service
IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND
THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY
312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by
Atlanta Title & Trust Co.
Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

Pryor St. at Auburn Ave.

Money to Loan

24-Hour — READY CASH — Service

IF YOU can use a little money now or at any other time, in amounts up to $300.00, why not call or phone us, as our method is quick, courteous and confidential. We lend on bonds and securities without removal, and allow you to repay us in small monthly payments with legal interest.

NO OTHER CHARGES OF ANY KIND

THOMPSON LOAN SOCIETY

312-13 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Phone Walnut 9826

Buy a Home, Have the TITLE Guaranteed and Insured by

Atlanta Title & Trust Co.

COAL—COAL
Furnace Egg (Holds Fire)	$6.75
Furnace Lump (Holds Fire)	$7.25
Red Ash Ky. Egg (Heater)	$7.25
Red Ash Ky. Block (Grate)	$7.75

CHILES COAL COMPANY

Jackson 1493      "THE BEST FOR LESS"      M4in 4932

_____

with resultant actual decrease in the Rates $1.00 per Day Phone JA 5700

For 2 Persons $1.50 per Day
STEAM HEAT, HOT AND COLD WATER
CAMBRIDGE HOTEL
SEE OUR DISPLAY ON THE STAGE

AS CARDS

OF UNUSUAL CARDS
SECOND FLOOR

JOHNSON—Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, Mr. John Jackson and family, of Kenne-saw: Mr. Robert Jackson, of Chat-

ATLANTA STOCK YARDS, INC.

Phone Mr. Whitmire

3111	Purchasing Agent. City of Atlanta.
------	---------------------------------------